CONGRESSIONAL CHIT-CHAT.

[illegible] APPROPRIATION BILL.

[illegible] March 4.—[Special.]—Many army [officers in] the city are of the opinion that the bill [passed] to-day by the senate increasing the annual [appropriation for] the national guard for the several [states] from $200,000 to $600,000 a year [will pass] the house beyond doubt, since it met [no] opposition in the senate. This sum is [distributed] among states in proportion to the [number] of active militia men, and will it is [thought] have the effect of creating a militia many [times larger than] the one in existence. The district [illegible] state militia, made under the so[illegible] requirements of a century old, there hav[illegible] legislation on the subject of organiza[tion] [illegible] have effected and maintained [illegible] by dint of united labor. [illegible] COPYRIGHT BILL.

[illegible] March 4.—Following is a copy of the [bill intro]duced by Senator Sherman to-day granting [copyright] to newspapers:

[illegible] etc. That any daily or weekly news[paper or] any association of daily or weekly news[papers] published in the United States or in any of [the territories] thereof, shall have the sole right to [print and publish], for a term of eight hours dat[ing from] the hour of going to press, the contents of [such] daily or weekly papers, or collected news of [illegible] exceeding 100 words.

[illegible] for any infringement of copyright [illegible] granted by this act the party injured [may sue in] any court of competent jurisdiction and [recover in] any proper action, damages sustained [by him] [illegible] by reason of such infringement, together [with the costs] of the suit.

[illegible] of the foregoing measure will be in [illegible] the house at the earliest opportunity.

[illegible] ON THE MORMON QUESTION.

[illegible] March 4.—Joaquin Miller to-day ap[peared before] the house committee on territories [to present his] views on the Mormon question. He [said the] [illegible], the Mormons as "Cranks" and [illegible] opposed repressive measures, as only [illegible] them to further lawless acts, in [illegible] This he said was the his [illegible] [illegible] Polygamy, he thought, [illegible] and be proscribed, education as [illegible] all the from which the people of [illegible] The Mormons, as a people, in his [opinion were] extremely ignorant. The [illegible] learning soon after the tele[gram] [illegible] had been misinterpreted [illegible] but Senator Dolph con[illegible] [illegible] to justify any notice.

[illegible] WANTS TO WAIT.

[illegible] March 4.—[Special.]—The Western [illegible] strong force for [illegible] perfectly confident that [illegible] will not become [illegible] They have lost no opportunity [illegible] every available way the advisability of the government taking the Western Union lines as they now stand and paying for them by issuing 3 per cent bonds which would be available for the use of national banks. All they have hoped to do this winter is to familiarize congress with the idea and make a sharp push for carrying out the scheme next winter. Mr Green has not made much of a reputation for himself before the senate committee. It was a blunder on his part to refuse to show private contracts of the company in the manner he did, for the impression he left upon the committee was that his concealment covered matters which, if published, might create a scandal.

TO ESTABLISH A SOUTH AMERICAN COMMISSION.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—A bill was introduced in the senate to-day by Cockrell to authorize the appointment of a special commission to visit the principal countries of Central and South America for the purpose of collecting information looking to the extension of American trade with those countries. It provides for the appointment of three commissioners for a term of two years each at an annual salary of $5000 to visit Mexico, Guatemala, Honduras, San Salvador, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Venezuela, Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia, The Argentine Republic, Chili, Uruguay, Paraguay and Brazil, and for an appropriation of $70,000 for carrying out the purposes of the act.

PUBLIC BUILDING FOR SACRAMENTO.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—[Special.]—Breitung, of the house committee on public buildings and grounds, made a favorable report to-day upon Glascock's bill appropriating $160,000 for a government building at Sacramento. The committee expected a substitute for the original bill which authorizes the secretary of the treasury to select the site and construct a building sufficiently large to accommodate the postoffice, the land office and the internal revenue and signal offices now located in that city.

A PETITION FROM CALIFORNIA.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—[Special.]—In the senate this morning Miller presented a memorial of the board of regents of the state university of California praying congress to pass a bill for the relief of the university. They claim that the passage of such bill will add materially to the finances of that institution and that it will not interfere with the disposition of public lands under the existing laws nor with the rights of pre-emption and homestead settlers.

FOR FRANK BLAIR'S WIDOW.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The house committee on invalid pensions have agreed to report the bill to allow the widow of General Frank P. Blair of Missouri $5000 and a pension of $50 per month for money expended and services rendered the Union cause by her husband during the late war.

SUB COMMITTEE APPOINTED.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The house committee on naval affairs has appointed Representatives Buchanan, McAdoo and Boutelle a sub committee to investigate the management of the Jeannette expedition in accordance with Washburn's resolution adopted yesterday.

FOR THE BENEFIT OF TELEGRAPH OPERATORS.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The house committee on military affairs has ordered a favorable report on the bill giving army telegraph operators who served as such in the late war the same rights to homestead entry as allowed enlisted men.

THE PRESIDENCY.

Minister Morton the Latest Candidate—The Boom for Blaine—Notes.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—[Special.]—The Capital to-day has the following gossip about the political aspirations of Minister Morton at Paris: There is one candidate whose name has not got into the papers. I refer to Hon L. P. Morton. Seated in his elegant residence in Paris Mr Morton contemplates the political situation at home with keen interest. He knows how important it is for his party to carry New York, and he also knows that he has better success in raising money in New York for campaign purposes than any other man. In the event that the convention at Chicago should be unable to select Arthur and should still find it all important to have a New York candidate I feel confident that Morton would take the nomination. He knows the canvass cannot be carried on without plenty of money and I have no doubt he would give more and raise more than any one who has been talked of. Morton's prominence as a political debt raiser is rather curious when it is considered that on Wall street he has never had the reputation of an enormously rich man. After he failed in the dry goods business he became a member of the banking house of Morton, Bliss & Co. Bliss was understood to put $500,000 in the firm, whereas Morton, although senior member, had only $100,000. He is not now rated at over $1,000,000 by New York men and yet by his large acquaintance and good position he has become in a way the representative of Wall street in the republican party.

THE BLAINE BOOM.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—[Special.]—The rapid development of public sentiment during the past week in favor of the nomination of Blaine for the presidency is the principal subject of comment among republican politicians. For some time past opponents of Arthur's renomination have complained because no candidate was put forward upon whom they could unite. Blaine has constantly declared himself not a candidate and he has carefully abstained from discussion of the subject. The growing feeling in favor of his nomination is spontaneous and is viewed with considerable alarm by many democrats as the best informed politicians here think that Blaine and Logan will have the greatest strength in the convention with Edmunds and Sherman as second choice candidates. All sorts of wild stories and absurd rumors are afloat, the principal ones being that the most prominent backers of Logan are secretly for Blaine and that Edmunds is simply a stand for Arthur. The statement that General Logan held a conference in New York with Platt, Cornell and other stalwart leaders is untrue. He did not meet Cornell but met Platt casually for a few moments. His visit to New York was on private business.

PULITZER INTERVIEWED.

NEW YORK, March 4.—[Special.]—The Herald prints a long interview with Pulitzer, editor of the World, who lives next door to Tilden. Pulitzer said: Dana understands very well that Tilden is not a candidate and I know it also. Mr Tilden so informed me not long since.

But suppose the convention will act as Dana says it will act? the reporter asked.

Pulitzer replied that it would be the same old story of Horatio Seymour over again, who said he would rather see himself in his coffin than be nominated. I think Payne is Tilden's preference and it looks as if he would have a commanding strength and availability in the canvass.

THE MACHINE AT PHILADELPHIA.

NEW YORK, March 4.—[Special.]—President Arthur straddled the Philadelphia appointments yesterday in a most artistic way. In parcelling out the Philadelphia offices Valentine continues in the district attorneyship as a small tub to the civil service reform. Kearns is recommissioned because he has been on the hind side and has never disobeyed a machine order and Bunn pops up serenely as governor of Idaho. He will bring up the boys in a solid and shouting phalanx for the powers that be. He will make however one of the most genial and lively governors of the Union and one of the most popular good fellows in the northwest.

CLUNIE'S STORY RIDICULED.

NEW YORK, March 4.—[Special.]—The World ridicules the story published recently on the Pacific coast thus: A great man from the Pacific coast has recently been in New York. His name is T. J. Clunie and he is a general. He called at Tilden's residence while here and was cordially received. He tells a San Francisco reporter that Tilden shook him by the hand. After this Clunie rushed to San Francisco and turned his knowledge to use upon a reporter. So the Pacific coast is seething and roaring for the old ticket.

FAIR SAYS IT IS A LIE.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—[Special.]—Fair of Nevada, in relation to the statement that he is booming Bayard for the democratic nomination for president and will pay half a million to see him elected, says: What infernal nonsense! I never dreamed of such a thing. Such a proposition never suggested itself to me nor was it ever intimated to me by any one. There would be just as much truth in stating that Bismarck was coming over here to contest the seat of some senator. No sir, just say the story is a lie.

THE CAMERONS LOSE THEIR GRIP.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—[Special.]—Reports from Pennsylvania say the Camerons to a certain extent have lost their hold on the republican masses and there is much enthusiasm throughout the state for Edmunds.

In Nebraska there is yet no crystalization of the republican forces, but Tilden is still popular among the democrats.

THE KEIFER-BOYNTON INQUIRY.

Testimony Relative to the Presence of Keifer in Boynton's Office.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—In the Keifer-Boynton investigation to-day General Swain was called to testify as to the character of Charles I. Garfield, but it turned out that he was unacquainted with him.

McGarrahan was recalled, but his testimony was without interest.

John Carson, correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger, and clerk of the ways and means committee of the forty seventh congress, was the next witness. He saw General Boynton on the night of March 1, about 12 o'clock, after the conference committee on the tariff bill adjourned; witness walked down with Boynton to his office and dictated to Wilson and Barrett testimony as far as any had been taken.

Barrett of the Boston Advertiser, testified to being in Boynton's office on March 1 and seeing Keifer there. Boynton and Keifer were discussing the general action of the conference, and what the probable result would be. Witness detailed the conversation he had had on the last night of the session with Keifer in which the latter used the expression "I don't care a G— d— for the press." He had told Boynton about the conversation.

Charles B. Ketcham of the associated press was called and stated that in March 1883 he was correspondent of the Kansas City Journal. He was in Boynton's office March 1 and saw Keifer there; did not hear any conversation take place between them.

Louis O'Shaughnessy stated that in March 1883, he was staff correspondent of the Commercial Gazette. He corroborated the testimony of previous witnesses as to Keifer's presence in Boynton's office on the night of March 1. This witness created a good deal of amusement by the terse and direct manner with which he answered questions propounded on cross-examination and by the statement by which he could recall the date of the conversation in Boynton's office. He repelled it through the fact that on that night he was engaged in looking up the Tabor wedding and the whisky bill.

A. M. Gibson testified that J. W. Elder's reputation for truth and veracity was not good.

G. E. Hutchinson, telegraph operator in Boynton's office, testified to Keifer's presence there on the night of March 1.

H. W. Dewitt of the Washington Post testified to Elder's bad reputation in Washington.

THE TARIFF QUESTION.

Democrats Hopelessly Divided—The Two Factions at Daggers' Points.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—[Special.]—There is discord in every fibre of the democratic party as was represented in congress last night. So much has it never prevailed among any class. Like a pack of hungry curs they are snapping at each other's heels and howling, "we were, [illegible] ingrate [illegible]." The protectionists say the free traders have no political sense; that if they were given full rein they would wreck the party within a fortnight. The free traders declare the protectionists have not the courage to express their sentiments and that they are too cowardly to improve the opportunity afforded them by a majority in the house. So it stands. There is discontent and backbiting on every hand. This condition of affairs was brought about by the announcement that Randall proposed to lead a sufficient number of protection democrats over to the republicans to cut off debate on the Morrison bill, knowing that it will meet with a sweeping defeat in its present shape.

The refusal of the party to take up Converse's resolution to restore the duty of 1867 on wool was galling to that class of democrats who favored it and Converse is now among those who say the tariff idiosyncrasies of the party have already branded defeat on its brew, so far as the coming campaign is concerned.

RANDALL VERY BITTER.

Your correspondent had a talk with Randall about his proposed scheme to defeat the Morrison bill. He did not deny nor did he confirm it. He merely heaped imprecations upon the heads of those who, he says, are trying to read him out of the party. He says it is just that class of partisans who are crying at him that will excavate their own graves this summer and bury themselves in them. Protectionist democrats have assured Randall that they will follow him in his programme to defeat the Morrison bill, and the free traders have already denounced him, declaring that the sooner the party is rid of him the better. Converse is quoted as saying that he has no hopes of any measure further to protect any industry; that the Morrison bill will bring up and then it will be too late. The fact is the democratic party at heart yearns to revise the tariff, but it is too cowardly to act, as recent proceedings have proven.

MORRISON'S MEASURE CONSIDERED.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—A substitute for the Morrison tariff bill, placing coal, salt and lumber on the free list, was considered by the committee on ways and means to-day. At the request of Kelley it was determined to hear to-morrow a delegation representing bituminous coal interests. It was also agreed to continue informal hearing until final action is taken on the measure by the committee. It is generally understood that a vote will be taken in the committee Thursday.

MORRISON'S MEASURE AS REVISED.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—[Special.]—The ways and means committee has reprinted Morrison's tariff bill with the free list omitted and a new one embracing salt, coal and various kinds of timber added. Under the new bill the full without articles of the wood schedule are made free. Timber hewn and sawed and timber used for spars and in building wharves, the present duty of 20 per cent; timber squared or sided not especially enumerated or provided for in this act, the present duty of 1 per cent per cubic foot; sawed boards, plank and other timber of hemlock, white wood, sycamore and bass wood and all other articles of sawed lumber, the present duty of $1 per 1000; hubs for wheels, posts, last blocks, wagon blocks, oar blocks, gun blocks, heading blocks and all like blocks or sticks rough hewn or sawed only, the present duty of 20 per cent; staves of wood of all kinds, the present duty 10 per cent; pickets and palings, the present duty of 20 per cent; laths, the present duty 15 cents per 1000; shingles, the present duty of 35 cents per 1000; spruce clapboards, the present duty $1.50 per 1000; wood [unman]ufactured, not specially enumerated or provided for in this act, the present duty of 20 per cent.

A DECIDED IMPROVEMENT.

The arrangement of the bill has been changed and very much improved. There are also a few changes in its provisions. In the original bill the reduction was made to apply to all articles in the sundries schedule, except precious stones, salt, coal, bristles and lime. The report drops bristles and lime and inserts instead oil flaxseed. A new clause has been added to the bill making 20 per cent reduction distinctly on the cost of polished plate glass unsilvered, exceeding 24x60 inches square, and green colored glass bottles, vials, demijohns and carboys, covered or uncovered, pickle or preserve jars and other plain, molded or pressed green and colored bottle glass not cut, engraved or painted, and not specially enumerated or provided for in this act.

A SECTION ADDED.

A new section—section 7—is added to the bill as follows: That on and after July 1, 1884, in lieu of the duties heretofore imposed on the importation of goods, wares and merchandise hereinafter specified there shall be levied, collected and paid the following rates of duty on said articles severally, that is to say, on all unpolished cylinder, crown and common window glass, 20 per cent [illegible] [illegible] of tin plates or taggers iron coated with tin or lead or with a mixture of which these metals are the component parts, by dipping or any other process and commercially known as tin plates, terne plates and taggers tin, and on flaxseed or linseed, 81 per centum of the several duties and rates of duty now imposed on said articles severally.

The revised bill also provides, under the clause stating that nothing shall be reduced below the rate of duties imposed by the Morrill tariff of 1861, that when under the existing law any of said articles are grouped together and made dutiable at one rate, nothing in the act shall operate to reduce the duty below the highest rate at which any article in such group was dutiable under said Morrill tariff.

THE RIVER AND HARBOR BILL.

Progress of Work on Improvements in Oregon and Washington.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—[Special.]—The house committee on rivers and harbors have been engaged for over a month in preparing their bill. It is expected that a skeleton of the bill will be agreed on the latter part of the week, and after that time the committee proposes to call on delegations in whose states rivers and harbors needing improvements are located and hear them upon the necessities of work being continued. This will occupy a week or so, after which the bill will be finally agreed upon and reported to the house the latter part of this month. Members of the committee state that the bill will probably appropriate this year between $12,000,000 and $15,000,000. It is expected that the committee will devote one day this week to considering the wants of the Pacific coast.

General Wright, chief of United States engineers, has furnished the committee with advance sheets of his report upon the progress of work throughout the country. This report contains an account of improvements on the rivers and harbors of the Pacific coast during the past year.

ON THE LOWER WILLAMETTE AND COLUMBIA.

Regarding the improvement of the lower Willamette and Columbia rivers from Portland to the sea the report states that since the work began the depth of water on the bar had been increased from nine feet at low water to fifteen and nineteen feet. For year ending July 1883 there was expended on this work and keeping open the ship channel from Astoria to Portland, 100 miles, the sum of $88,441. Upon the upper Willamette there was expended during the year ended July last $5943 and on the upper Columbia and Snake rivers a somewhat less sum. In both cases navigation has been greatly improved.

AT THE CASCADES.

Regarding the Cascades canal the report says: The improvement consists of open river work over a reach of about four miles—from the head of present navigation to the foot of the projected canal. The river part is about half completed and the canal part about one fourth. Its completion will give continuous navigation of eight feet the least depth of the channel from the head of ship navigation as far up as The Dalles—forty five miles—which is the border of the productive and extensive upper Columbia region, from which region to The Dalles railroad construction is comparatively easy, whereas below The Dalles it is difficult, and its maintenance would be expensive. No material benefit to commerce can be expected until the improvement is completed. On this work $186,[illegible] was expended for the year ended July last, leaving available on that date $70,284.

During the same time there was expended on the entrance to Coos bay, Or, $7,198; on Yaquina bay, Or, $40,992; on the mouth of the Coquille river $900, and on other rivers of Oregon and Washington small sums.

TREMBLING IN THE BALANCE.

Pacific Coast Land Grants Jeopardized by Adverse Reports.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—[Special.]—To-morrow or next day Henley of California will report the bill from the house committee on public lands declaring forfeited land grants under the act of July 25, 1866 to aid in the construction of the California and Oregon railroad. This will be followed the latter part of the week with another bill to forfeit the grant of the Oregon and California railroad, which is being built southward from Portland to the California state line.

Henley has prepared a report on the former bill in which the committee gives a long history of the projection of these two roads and the reasons which guided them in declaring the grants forfeited. The report states that only 158 miles of the California and Oregon road have been built and the act required it to be all completed in 1880. The original grant was 2,136,588 acres, of which the company has patented 1,237,000 acres.

When the attorneys for the company came before the committee the report says they stated as the reason why work was stopped on the road that Villard ceased building southward and that it would have been useless to build the road to the state line and stop there. The only way it could have been continued was by obtaining a franchise from the state of Oregon, which under the circumstances the company thought not wise to do.

A LAME EXCUSE.

The report says that this was a poor excuse for stopping work, as the Oregon people would have been glad to grant a franchise and in the opinion of the committee the truth of the matter is that Villard, owing to disagreements with the Central Pacific, threatened to build a rival road along the coast and the Central Pacific for whom the California and Oregon threatened to build to Portland, and that while determining the proper course to pursue both companies stopped building and under the terms of the granting act forfeited their lands. In reviewing the matter the report states that the committee considers the history of the Central Pacific which owns this line, and it cannot but conclude that that company has had enough aid from government and should be held to the strict letter of the law in this case. With any other corporation congress might consider some of the pleas and excuses made by the Central Pacific, but as in this case the company has invested so much in the California and Oregon railway that the enterprise will be completed anyhow. Mr Huntington having admitted this in his examination, the committee recommend restoring the land grant to the public domain.

Henley will also prepare report on the Oregon and California railroad. The Northern Pacific railroad the committee having decided to forfeit the grants to both the roads.

Manitoba's Demands.

GRAND FORKS, Dak., March 4.—Delegates from the Grand Forks chamber of commerce to the Manitoba [convention] at Winnipeg [illegible] day and to-morrow, give the full [illegible] the points to be considered and advantages to be gained by building a railroad from the northwest corner of Lake Winnipeg to Fort Churchill, under control of Manitoba. They declare it a natural highway of exports and imports for the valley that, pending the road, will add to the price of wheat, given to five cents per bushel, and enhance the value of lands. That Manitoban [illegible] at the trouble and debt incurred by the [illegible] the Canadian [illegible] that they repudiate political but esteem commercial relations with the United States, but express a desire that the Dominion parliament be asked to improve the Red river for steamboat navigation; that it is the right and the duty of Manitoba to extend her boundaries to Hudson bay; that a refusal to extend will be followed by the purchase of a railroad charter by the local government already granted by the dominion; that in case of failure to buy it will build the road, such road being a supreme necessity; that a committee be appointed to wait on the provincial government and urge the necessity of legislation to carry out these resolutions.

A Stormy Church Meeting.

NEW YORK, March 4.—The trustees of Dr Newman's church held a stormy meeting last night. The first sign of trouble showed itself when Hopkins, after fruitlessly endeavoring to offer a resolution to appoint some named, remarked that the bloody flag ought to have been hung out and everybody was spoiling for a row. It was then announced that the church owed $40,000 on a note due on April 1, but that there was no money in the treasury to meet it after paying Dr Newman's salary. Hopkins proposed that the receipts be devoted to pay the debt and the remainder be paid Newman in lieu of his salary. Trustee Corley remarked that such a remark could only come from a Rennyite, and one who didn't know any better than to use such language. Hopkins replied in the same entertaining manner and for a few minutes it was thought the meeting would adjourn to the sidewalk to fight it out. Peace was finally restored without recourse to violence, but no further business of importance was transacted and the board adjourned, after informing the secretary not to let the books of the church to any person without permission of the trustees.

Idaho's New Governor Described.

PHILADELPHIA, March 4.—[Special.]—Judge Bunn, Idaho's new governor, was yesterday seen by a Press reporter clad in faultlessly fitting attire, a Tudor hat on his light locks. With his stylish air and slim though well knit frame he did not appear as though he was intended to tread the rugged hills of Idaho.

Why they'll call him the dude governor, said one of his friends.

Well, you bet your life that before thirty days they'll have made me governor. A governor should give [illegible] That is what they want me for I suppose, and that's what I'll do. I don't know more than four men in the entire territory, but I'm willing to know every one if they will let me. I'm going there to stay if it suits my family. I have large mining interests there that may render my staying profitable [illegible] the salary the position commands.

Judge Bunn served during the war in the seventy [illegible] Pennsylvania and was wounded.

Fenian Speeches.

NEW YORK, March [illegible]—[Special.]—Speeches were made at a meeting of the Manhattan branch of the Irish national league last night by Colonel Shackleford and Assemblyman Haggerty. The general opinion expressed by the speakers was that the Irish in America had nothing to do with repressing extreme measures resorted to in England. They could well appreciate the motives actuating men who had been aroused to such a pitch. Said Shackleford: I am in favor of dropping dynamite from balloons upon every city and village in England, if it will carry out Ireland's aim and win her liberty. England has resorted to measures just as cruel when Erin struck a blow. Her lot is [illegible] [illegible] can one and now she deserves no sympathy when she is forced to take her own medicine.

The Clipper Freight Market.

NEW YORK, March [illegible]—[Special.]—There has not been much activity in Pacific coast freight during the past week, unfavorable weather preventing [illegible] [illegible] the market. Prices remain firm. Van Vleck still has on berth the Israel [illegible] which is loading rapidly and will probably be full by Thursday. The Oregon [illegible] [illegible] still follows the Oregon. [illegible] have [illegible] charters. The Alberton as she is still [illegible] will get away by the 10th, the weather per[mitting]. The Cyrus Wakefield will clear before the [end] of the week. [illegible] [illegible] and will be ready to sail by the last. [illegible] are no [illegible] for Portland.

Mackay Arrives from Europe.

NEW YORK, March 4.—[Special.]—Mackay arrived on the Servia. Is it true, asked a reporter, that Mrs Mackay destroyed the portrait of herself by Meissonier that cost 13,000 francs because she did not like it?

That story is all nonsense, replied the bonanza king, as he turned on his heel. Your reporters will drive me to the morgue next. I am tired and do not want to talk.

Mackay sees no callers for the present, wishing to recover from his fatigue before proceeding to business. He visited the bank of Nevada during the afternoon. He will remain here a month before going west.

A Startling Possibility.

NEW YORK, March 4.—[Special.]—The Herald says: It would be curious to inquire, but impossible to ascertain, how many of the $150,000,000 silver now in circulation or reposing in the treasury vaults, have come from the Birmingham manufacturers. There is nothing to prevent John Chinaman ordering from Birmingham a few million dollars of the precise weight and standard fineness identical in every respect with our present coinage of silver dollars, and which the collector of customs or the secretary of the treasury or the master of the mint himself could not say had not been coined in the Philadelphia mint. They would come in as returned American coin.

Lecture on Alaska.

PHILADELPHIA, March 4.—[Special.]—A mass meeting of the Women's National Indian association was held in the association hall last night to listen to an address by Rev. Sheldon Jackson on Alaska. He said Alaska was worse off now than when under the despotic rule of Russia, for then it had some government and education, but now it has none whatever. An earnest appeal for funds was made by Riegel, chairman, and resolutions were adopted asking Samuel J. Randall favorably to report a bill embodying the secretary of the interior's suggestion as to such support for schools in Alaska.

The Dakota Tin Discovery.

NEW YORK, March 4.—[Special.]—The Sun says: Now that the layers of tin ore in the Harney peak district of the Black hills are demonstrated to be practically inexhaustible, block tin, which costs now from $37 to $40 a ton, can be produced at the new Dakota mines for less than $10 a ton. Keeping in view that we import annually, like $25,000,000 worth of tin every year and that with the growth of the canning industry consumption is constantly increasing, the importance of the discovery becomes self evident.

New York Notes.

NEW YORK, March 3.—[Special.]—Owing to a light snow on the slippery sidewalks over a dozen cases of broken legs were reported this morning and the list will probably be trebled.

Mrs. Langtry has finally decided not to go to Australia this year as she feels she is not strong enough in health to stand such a journey. After her San Francisco engagement which begins June 16th and closes the 28th, she will return to New York and sail for England.

Fraudulent Butter.

NEW YORK, March 4.—[Special.]—Evidence given before the New York senate committee the past week concerning imitation butter shows that the annual shipment of the spurious article from the west to this city is about 1,500,000 pounds. Of thirty samples of alleged butter collected at random from city grocers twenty were imitation. Butterine sells for 30 to 45 cents per pound and oleomargarine from 20 to 30 cents. Often the same article is sold at varying prices to suit the character of the customer, but always as pure creamery butter.

Mouth and Foot Disease.

TOPEKA, Kas., March 4.—The governor is in receipt of a dispatch from Lieutenant Governor Finley at Neosho Falls, Woodson county, stating that the mouth and foot disease has broken out among the cattle in that vicinity. Already 60 head are affected and the disease is spreading. He asks the governor if there is any law by which it can be stamped out. The governor telegraphed to Leavenworth and to the commissioner of agriculture at Washington to send surgeons.

A Publisher Arrested.

NEW YORK, March 4.—Frank Tousey of a publishing company was arrested to-night on a warrant issued by Justice Duffy, on complaint of Anthony Comstock, on a charge that he has violated the law by reprinting a book entitled "Memoirs of George IV," which was claimed to be injurious to the morals of the community. His bail was fixed at $5000 and he was released. Sinclair Tousey of the American News Company, the young man's uncle, became his bondsman.

The Coeur d'Alene Mines.

NEW YORK, March 4.—[Special.]—The Sun, quoting a Sacramento paper which advises caution in receiving stories about the Coeur d'Alene mines, adds: We invite the attention of all adventurous spirits away from an account of these mines printed in a contemporary yesterday, who might have fancied them a new Eldorado. "The far west is a good place to stay away from just now."

Bronze Statue of Bolivar.

NEW YORK, March 4.—[Special.]—A bronze statue of Simon Bolivar, the liberator of Colombia, to be presented by the government of Venezuela to the city of New York, is now completed. It cost $25,000. The site has not yet been decided upon, but will probably be in Central park.

The St. Nicholas to be Torn Down.

NEW YORK, March 4.—[Special.]—The St. Nicholas hotel, one of the oldest and best known in this city, will be torn down the 1st of April to make room for a six story building for stores. The property is now worth from $800,000 to $1,000,000 and as a hotel does not pay.

Shipment of Precious Metals.

NEW YORK, March 4.—One million dollars in bars and one million in coin, were shipped to Europe to-day by the steamship Arizona.

By the use of Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh I have overcome a disagreeable discharge from the nostrils, and am free from pain in my eyes and head.—J. W. Lant, Hardware Merchant, Newton, N. J.

THE PROPOSED COPYRIGHT.

A Chicago Daily Vigorously Defends the Watterson Measure.

CHICAGO, March 4.—The Daily News says: An effort has been made to make the public at large believe that congress will pass no law for newspaper copyright. Doubtless those interested in producing such an expression proceed on the principle that all is fair in war, even in the press. [illegible] Primarily the design of the measure is to put an end to a sort of theft that has hitherto gone unpunished because a daily newspaper is the only commercial enterprise in the United States to steal from which is not a crime. To illustrate this point with perfect clearness let it be supposed that a merchant imports goods from Europe at a great cost and that they are stolen from him. The consequence of the theft in the event of detection is conviction and imprisonment for the crime. If a type founder casts a new and original style of type he protects it under the law relating to patents and no man may imitate it without becoming liable to a serious penalty.

The purpose of a merchant and an inventor is the same. Each goes to the preliminary expense of his venture that he may sell what he has imported or invented at a price that will yield a profit. The proprietor of a newspaper who imports, so to speak, a valuable bit of news or a choice piece of news from abroad or from another state within the Union, or devotes his own time and tools to the preparation (this is invention) of valuable and often important matter, is absolutely at the mercy of any one unscrupulous enough to steal either. There may be in this case an outlay of money larger than that incurred by a merchant or an inventor. He goes to that outlay for the same reason that they do, but he is outside the law and is wholly unprotected from any who may choose to appropriate the fruit of his brain or the news he has purchased.

Much has been said about opposition of the country papers. There is no little misapprehension by this branch of the subject. But few of the provincial publications, the weeklies, semi weeklies and tri weeklies that are largely made up of what are known as patent insides, will be affected at all by the proposed law, the object of which is to protect the contents of a newspaper for just as long only (say twenty four hours) as will prevent them from being stolen and used in competition with the journal paying for them. The country papers therefore need not be afraid. There is a class of provincial papers, a certain kind of local dailies that will find the operation of the law very inconvenient indeed. It is directed against them, and its framers aim against them and a species of evanescent little city sheets that steal their news and dispatches from early issues of morning papers. These two classes need what will catch their dishonesties.

WILL REPORT THE COPYRIGHT BILL ADVERSELY.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—[Special.]—Rice of Massachusetts, who has charge of the bill providing for copyright of news published in daily newspapers, says he is going to report adversely upon the measure. He says that under such law there would be a complication of lawsuits that would set all the judges wild. Every newspaper publisher would have to retain a lawyer. There is ingenuity in the composition of a book the same as in the invention of a patent article, he says, but there is no element of genius in news. It is talk—common babble—and no one should be prevented from writing all he chooses about current news. To prevent or prohibit it would be to arm the monopolists and set into action every thing that would ruin our common literary institutions.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

A LOVE SICK TRAGEDY.

DELAPLAINE, March 4.—Sunday morning John Glasco, while in a fit of passion supposed to have been caused by jealousy, murdered his wife and three small children. After setting fire to his house he proceeded to the woods some distance and shot himself through the head. The fire was discovered and extinguished before the bodies were consumed. [illegible]

WARRENTON, Va., March 4.—Of the terrible tragedy near Delaplaine this county Sunday it seems the attention of neighbors was called to the residence of John Glasco by the appearance of his house being on fire. When entered and the fire was extinguished the body of his wife and son aged [illegible] baby and a child between were found dead and weltering in blood from pistol shots on each in the wife and the second and the third child and three in the oldest boy. Shortly afterward a shot was heard in the direction of the woods a short distance off and the body of John Glasscock himself was discovered. The deduction is that he murdered his family, set the house on fire intending to conceal the crime and then killed himself as soon as the calling alarm of the fire told him his crime was revealed.

HE CONFESSES THE MURDER.

DOVER, N. H., March 4.—Desire Boudoir, a young [illegible] in this city from Canada [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] from the train [illegible] [illegible] I am Desire Boudoir [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Fall for which the [illegible] [illegible] father. Rather than have him suffer [illegible] I have come back to suffer the penalty of the crime. Boudoir was arrested. He says he threw the kettle that killed [illegible] at the time that the mob was at [illegible] the house. He will be arraigned to-morrow and will go along to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Counsel for the father who has been convicted of the murder [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] for him. Boudoir [illegible] from the governor and court.

[illegible] N. H., March 4.—Desire Boudoir was brought before the police court this afternoon and pleaded not guilty to the charge of killing Frederick [illegible] for which crime his father stands convicted.

AN ATROCIOUS DEED.

CHICAGO, March 4.—Early Sunday morning Peter Schultz, a well-to-do carpenter and builder, choked his pregnant wife to death and went away wandering helplessly and aimlessly about the city. He left children by a former wife—the eldest daughter aged 16—in the house. It appears that the stepmother had been harsh with them and they feared to go to her room so that the discovery of the crime wasn't made until yesterday afternoon when the daughter entered the door and saw her mother dead.

CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT.

BUFFALO, March 4.—John W. Hawkins, United States lumber inspector and private secretary of Nelson Holland, of Clarke, Holland & Co., lumber dealers, is charged with the embezzlement of moneys of Holland aggregating $40,000. Hawkins does not deny the charge. Holland declines to say whether he will prosecute criminally or not. The money is supposed to be lost in wheat speculations. Hawkins has heretofore enjoyed an enviable reputation.

WHIPPED TO DEATH.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., March 4.—[Special.]—Horrible details of the whipping of a sickly colored boy 14 years old to death by his uncle, John Bartes, because the boy slept late in the morning have just been received from near here. He was tied up to a bed post and beaten with hickory clubs until his head fell on his breast and the boy was dead. Bartes was pursued by infuriated negroes crying "Hang him." He was afterward taken to the Andersonville jail.

SUICIDE AT CHEYENNE.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 3.—This morning about 8 o'clock Eugene [illegible] Gunnison, alias E. B. Clifford, some time past business manager of the Northwestern Livestock Journal, committed suicide by shooting himself in the right temple. Gunnison was originally from Massachusetts, where his parents now reside.

SHOT HIS FATHER.

EASTON, Pa., March 4.—Benjamin Beatty attempted to chastise his 17 year old son Harry, when the boy drew a revolver and shot his father. The wound is serious. The boy was disarmed before he could fire the second shot. He was then given over to arrest. [illegible] and has fled. Harry read [illegible] novels.

THE ASSAILANTS ARRESTED.

[illegible], Ohio, March 4.—Sheriff Cross with a posse of twenty five special constables to-day arrested the parties who made the assault on Grunge at McDevitt Sunday night and took them to New Lexington.

THE PACIFIC EXPRESS ROBBERY.

ST. LOUIS, March 4.—Up to noon the police had discovered no clue as to the whereabouts of Teller the Pacific Express robber. Detectives are prosecuting the search vigorously.

HANGED.

PHILADELPHIA, March 4.—John McGinnis was hanged in the county prison at 10:35 this morning for the murder of his mother in law, Mrs Mary Ried.

RAILROAD NOTES.

THE NEW CLEARING HOUSE SYSTEM.

NEW YORK, March 4.—[Special.]—The Herald says: There appears no difference of opinion among railroad men concerning the value of the clearing house system of settling through business recently presented to the assemblage of presidents and four vice presidents of the leading trunk lines of the United States. It is to be a railway clearing house similar in nature and design to a banking institution of like name, and it is to be established in this city for the purpose of preventing future discrimination in tariff and securing more permanent through rates of transportation. The proposition was referred to a committee for consideration. The Herald prints an endorsement of the proposition by Commissioner Fink, who also says that railway managers with whom he has conversed favor the scheme.

THE LUMBER RATES CUT MET.

CHICAGO, March 4.—Western trunk line association roads have met the cut of the Burlington and other lines from Chicago and St. Louis to Denver and other Colorado points on lumber rates, making the tariff by all roads thirty seven cents per hundred pounds.

A BAD SHOWING.

NEW YORK, March 4.—The annual report of the Texas and Pacific railway shows an income of $7,-457,[illegible] operating expenses and fixed charges $7,-[illegible]

THE STAGE.

McCULLOUGH'S REAPPEARANCE.

NEW YORK, March 4.—[Special.]—John McCullough, after an absence of one year, appeared as Virginius last evening. The city press claim that his acting is not as forcible as formerly. McCullough was seen at his hotel by a reporter. He said: I am suffering from a touch of malaria and probably will not be better till the weather changes. Otherwise I am very well and as strong as I ever was. His engagement lasts till the after part of March. He will be followed by Henry Irving in two engagements.

THE STAGE.

THE LILY ACCUMULATING PROPERTY.

NEW YORK, March 4.—Mrs Lillie Langtry the English actress to-day took an assignment of mortgage of real estate in this city. She is already the owner of several houses here.

FOREIGN NEWS.

ENGLAND.

THE MURDERERS OF LORD LEITRIM.

LONDON, March 4.—Kellis, the Irish informer who surrendered yesterday to the Greenock police, states that the murderers of Earl Leitrim were Patrick McLaughlin, a traveling fenian, Thomas Hunt and Michael McGinn. He says he heard McLaughlin confess that he shot Lord Leitrim. The murder was planned in London. The fact he knew of McLaughlin's movements was that he went to Dublin in 1881 and gave Carey two knives and £50 of a secret society's funds.

TRADE AND NAVIGATION ON THE CONGO.

LONDON, March 4.—A treaty with Portugal, appointing an Anglo Portuguese commission to regulate trade and navigation on the Congo river, has been approved by a majority of the liberals and a number of the conservative members of parliament. It is reported that France is determined to insist recognition of the sovereignty of Portugal on the north side of the Congo, and also to insist upon the right of France to be represented on the commission.

MEETING OF SHIP OWNERS.

LONDON, March 4.—An important meeting of British ship owners was held to-day to consider proposed legislation affecting their interests. Members of parliament deprecated hasty legislation in regard to merchant shipping. The sentiment of the meeting was embodied in a resolution which says the enormous interests involved demand that the proposed bill be referred to a select committee.

ABANDONED THEIR VESSEL.

LONDON, March 4.—Seventeen members of the crew of the Spanish bark Trinidad, Captain Marrero, have landed at Liverpool. They report that the Trinidad sailed from Pensacola on December 27 for Gloucester and was abandoned by them waterlogged on February 24. The captain and the remainder of the crew refused to quit the vessel.

OFFERING AN ADDITIONAL REWARD.

LONDON, March 4.—Four railway companies offer an additional reward of £1000 for the detection of the authors of the dynamite outrages. The landlord at the Waverly hotel has identified the valise seized at Charing Cross station as the one which the man took away from the hotel.

SUSPECTED DYNAMITERS.

HAVRE, March 4.—Maurice Lisson, Dillon and Ryan, suspected dynamiters, are now in this city. Three suspected Irishmen sailed on the steamer St. Laurence Saturday for New York. The steamer Canada from New York was searched on her arrival here.

TO AMEND THE LAND ACT.

LONDON, March 4.—In deference to the memorial of Irish members of all shades of politics, the government will introduce in the house of commons a motion to amend the purchase clauses of the land act. Parnell is actively promoting the company to further migration from various districts of Ireland.

REPORTED COLLISION.

LONDON, March 4.—Hong Kong advices to this date report that a collision had occurred between the Chinese soldiers and Europeans at Shanghai. A small body of the former assaulted the latter and wounded two with bayonets.

GUARDING BUCKINGHAM PALACE.

LONDON, March 4.—Extraordinary precautions are being taken to insure the safety of Buckingham Palace. The movements of all persons found lurking about the neighborhood are closely watched.

STOCKS HAVE FALLEN.

LONDON, March 4.—Anglo-American cable shares have fallen in report of dispatches between the projectors of the Mackay cable and ambassadors.

WHO COMMITTED THE OUTRAGE.

LONDON, March 4.—It is now almost certain that the dynamite outrages were the work of four men who arrived from America on February 20th.

NINE PERSONS DROWNED.

LONDON, March 4.—The steamer Berthe collided at Gibraltar with the Norwegian bark Alaska. Nine persons were drowned.

DANGEROUSLY ILL.

LONDON, March 4.—Princess Clotilde, sister of the king of Italy and wife of Prince Napoleon, is dangerously ill.

PASSED TO THE FIRST READING.

LONDON, March 4.—The franchise bill passed to the first reading in the house of commons.

WOOL SALE.

LONDON, March 4.—To-day 8,115 bales of Sydney and Port Phillip wool were sold.

THE WAR IN EGYPT.

GRAHAM ORDERED TO RETURN TO SUAKIM.

LONDON, March 4.—Although Hartington has denied that General Graham has been ordered to Trinkitat, evidently official advices from Cairo say General Stephenson has instructed Graham to have the troops embark at Trinkitat and return to Suakim as the latter place is the best base for operations against Osman Digma. General Graham, leaving a battalion to garrison Fort Baker, will order the troops to embark to-day. Operations against Osman Digma will not extend beyond Tamanieb. The British minister at Cairo advises the government to fix the limit of action for troops on the Red sea at [illegible] littoral ten miles from the coast.

IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

LONDON, March 4.—In the house of commons the Right Hon Frederick Stanley, conservative, gave notice of his intention to move that no supplies be granted the government until they make a full and explicit statement of their Egyptian policy. The conservatives greeted this with loud cheers.

Fitzmaurice, under foreign secretary, stated that no attempt would be made to relieve Kassala, as it was believed the garrison could be withdrawn without difficulty.

QUEEN VICTORIA TO KING JOHN.

CAIRO, March 4.—Captain Speedy has started for Abyssinia with a letter from Queen Victoria to King John. Captain Speedy will probably remain in Abyssinia as a British resident.

Colonel Stewart's second expedition up the White Nile met with a better reception.

GENERAL GRAHAM NOT ORDERED TO RETIRE.

LONDON, March 4.—Marquis Hartington, secretary of war, states that General Graham has not been ordered to retire to Trinkitat as was rumored. He has not been directed to attack Osman Digma.

REFUSED TO SERVE A WRIT.

CAIRO, March 4.—The French consulate has refused to serve a ministerial writ for suppressing Bosphore, the Egyptian newspaper.

INSTRUCTED TO COMPLIMENT.

LONDON, March 4.—All the powers have been instructed to compliment the government upon General Graham's victory.

ORDERED TO TRINKITAT.

LONDON, March 4.—General Graham has been instructed to return to Trinkitat to wait for further orders.

CANADA.

THE MANITOBA TROUBLE INCREASING.

OTTAWA, March 4.—A private letter from a member of the Manitoba government states that Norquay has resolved to form a coalition ministry by taking in two opposition members and then the legislature. Concessions made by the federal government have not allayed this excitement in the northwest, but have tended to aggravate the difficulties.

CANADIAN PACIFIC LOAN BILL.

OTTAWA, March 4.—The bill granting a loan to the Canadian Pacific railway passed to a second reading in the senate last night by a vote of 43 to 16. The third reading will be to-day and the governor general will probably assent on Wednesday.

TWO CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH.

MONTREAL, March 4.—A dwelling occupied by Charles Garson at Three Rivers, was burned to-day and two children, aged 2 and 4, perished in the flames.

RUSSIA.

FUNERAL OF MINISTER HUNT.

ST PETERSBURG, March 4.—Funeral services over the remains of Minister Hunt took place to-day at the American church. The coffin was wrapped in the stars and stripes and conveyed to the church in a hearse drawn by six horses. A large number of mourners were present and the services were very impressive. The coffin was laid in the vault of the church, where it will remain until arrangements are made for transporting it to the United States.

THE LATE MINISTER HUNT.

ST PETERSBURG, March 4.—Preliminary arrangements for the funeral of the late Minister Hunt, which takes place to-day in the American chapel, have been completed. Religious services will be conducted by the American chaplain and two assistants. Russian ministers, diplomatic corps, court officials and resident Americans will be present.

FRANCE.

A REVOLUTIONARY LETTER.

PARIS, March 4.—Paul de Cassagnac, Bonapartist, writes in Le Matin urging that the Bonapartists and royalists should unite, with a view of effecting the downfall of the republic, the Napoleonists and the Orleanists.

IRELAND.

SUSPECTS ARRESTED.

CORK, March 4.—Pete Jones, alias Burke, and Thomas McGinnis were arrested to-day on suspicion of being implicated in the recent dynamite outrages.

GERMANY.

PRUSSIA'S PROPOSAL TO THE BUNDESRATH.

BERLIN, March 4.—Prussia's proposal to the bundesrath regarding the anti-socialist law, is to prolong the law until 1886 on the ground that many attacks upon life and property are traceable to the socialists.

HUNGARY.

DETECTIVE BADLY BEATEN.

PESTH, March 4.—A number of socialists recognized a detective in a tavern to-day and badly beat him. He is now in a precarious condition.

Liquor Dealers Protest.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 4.—[Special.]—The decision of the attorney general of the United States that all goods in bonded warehouses shall be considered as abandoned after three years have elapsed has caused much comment and dissatisfaction among persons here using these warehouses, especially large liquor dealers. Liquors remaining in bonded warehouses are generally regarded as above suspicion as to their purity, and removal which gives an opportunity of tampering with it naturally lowers the price. The longer the liquor remains in these places the more valuable it becomes, the aging increasing the value more than enough to compensate for storage expenses. Some of the liquor men, who consider the decision a hardship, have decided to test its legality in the courts. Several have declined to remove their goods. The 10th inst. is the date set for the sale of abandoned goods and these persons will contest the right of the government to such goods.

Knocking Out Match Arranged.

Al Smith, Sullivan's manager, last evening offered to put up a purse of $500 if Prof Young, "Dutchy," would stand up before Pete McCoy for four rounds, and to give "Dutchy" $1000 if he knocked McCoy out. Dutchy accepted the proposition and the money was posted in Clarence Whistler's hands. The match will take place the same night of the Sullivan-Robinson affair, which is billed for March 6.

[Special.]—Interest grows in the coming contest between Robinson and Sullivan. The former was visited at his quarters to-day and is getting in good form. Until last night he had been unable to sleep well for nervousness, and this of course kept him in bad condition. He had good rest last night and is hopeful, as are his friends, who will back him heavily. Sullivan is also in training and it is said was never in better condition in his life. He continues his rude braggadocio and declares that he will knock out Robinson or anybody else in one round.

Personal.

[Special.]—Mrs. Julius Meyer and Miss Minnie Simon, who have been visiting friends in this city for several weeks, will sail for home to-morrow.

C. H. Meussdorffer is in the city, the guest of his brother, and he will sail for home by steamer of the 9th.

John A. Beck and family will remain in the city till Friday, going then to Santa Cruz, San Mateo and other southern points. They expect to remain in California during the whole of March.

Tyler Woodard and family are still in the city, and will remain here ten days before going to Los Angeles.

W. Lair Hill and family will not get off till the 9th.

Pierce Mays and wife have returned from Monterey and will sail for home on the 9th.

The Election Commissioners.

[Special.]—The election commissioners met yesterday morning and again adjourned without taking final action on precincting the city. The plans of the registrar were informally approved, but their official approval was withheld till some future time. The board was also unable to order an election for assemblyman in the thirteenth senatorial district, although the governor's proclamation ordering an election had been received. The board decided to postpone everything until the political phases of the question could be more thoroughly considered.

Scarcity of Seamen.

[Special.]—Notwithstanding the large number of vessels which have arrived in this port in the last six months from which several thousand seamen have landed, there is at present a great scarcity of sailors for outgoing crafts. Landlords state as the probable cause of this that whalers which have fitted out here have taken a great number and many more have turned farmers and in lieu of plowing the deep have taken to plowing the ground.

San Francisco Notes.

The regents of the state university to-day decided to turn the institution into a military college, introducing drills and uniforming the students.

George Pen Johnston, for many years past an editorial writer on the Examiner and one of the most prominent democrats in the city, died to-day after a long illness.

The Weather.

[Special.]—Rain began falling in Los Angeles yesterday morning and by night the edge of the storm had reached this city and Sacramento, while the weather was cloudy at Red Bluff and Cape Mendocino. The barometer was low all along the coast last night and had been falling rapidly for several hours. At Los Angeles 1.78 inches of rain had fallen up to 8 P. M.

Oakland Selected.

The meeting of the republican state central committee to-day decided to hold the republican state convention at Oakland April 30. An informal vote was taken of the members of the committee for choice of presidential candidates, which gave Blaine 2, Washburn 3, Conkling 2 and Arthur 4.

Wedding.

Rev S. C. Adams of Salem and Mrs. Martha V. Rayl of Alameda were married in this city to-day. Mrs. Rayl is a sister of Mrs. F. F. Victor, well known in Oregon. Mr and Mrs Adams will remain in the city till Thursday and then go to Monterey for a stay of several weeks.

An Investigation Ordered.

[Special.]—Superior Judge Toohy to-day instructed the grand jury to investigate the many underground dens of the city and also to have the proprietors of theaters remedy all defective exits.

Another Flood at Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES, March 4.—Heavy rain fell during the night accompanied by thunder and lightning. A half past 1 the alarm bells rang as a signal that the river was again overflowing its banks. Many residents of the lower portion of the city were assisted in removing to the upper part of town. Fortunately no damage of any consequence was done in the city as the river began falling again after 6 A. M., but below the city many orchards and vineyards on the east side of the river sustained much damage and several houses were endangered. Serious damage was done along the line of railroad from here to San Fernando. It is reported that much repaired work is again washed out, while Salida canyon is in as bad shape as before. The time when trains will run north is thus again indefinitely postponed.

A heavy washout occurred to-day near Cactus station and the incoming express train was delayed. The rainfall for the twenty four hours ending at 8:15 P. M. to-night was 1.97 inches.

Death from an Overdose of Oil of Cedar.

NEVADA, Cal., March 4.—Rhoda A. Gray, unmarried, a young woman aged 21 years, who has for some time been engaged at dressmaking in this city, died this forenoon at the residence of John Enright, on East Broad street, where she roomed, from the effects of an overdose of oil of cedar, which she had taken for the purpose of producing abortion.

A Heavy Sentence.

NEVADA, March 4.—Charles H. Smith, a native of Michigan, 54 years old, was to-day sentenced to San Quentin by Judge Breen for twenty five years for attempting to poison John A. Reed. Smith and Reed had a dispute about a gun claimed by both, and Smith put strychnine in Reed's coffee. This is the heaviest penalty ever imposed in this county.

Mysterious Disappearance.

HOLLISTER, Cal., March 4.—Police Judge Dan Hoffman mysteriously disappeared this morning. Search all day failed to discover anything of him or his whereabouts. It is supposed that in a fit of insanity he wandered off.

MONTANA.

Terrible Train Accident near Missoula.

MISSOULA, March 4.—The second section of the east bound freight last night, with a snow plow in front, while going thirty miles an hour, ran into the first section of the train, while the latter halted at Jocko without displaying a signal light. The caboose, in which nine men were sleeping, was split from end to end, throwing the men in every direction. All were hurt more or less, and two—John Barker, a brakeman, and William Corliss of St. Paul—were fatally burned by escaping steam. Two cars further front were also telescoped, and the firemen of the incoming engine saved themselves by jumping.

The grand jury of Garfield county reported no true bill against Stenson, who was accused of incest.

THE SCHOOL QUESTION

The action of the school meeting on Monday night may be fairly taken as an expression of want of confidence in the business management of the schools and of dissatisfaction with "the machine." It was the result of a desire to put a check on the financial extravagance of the one, and on the high pressure methods of the other The two are parts of the same system To support so elaborate a machine to extend its operations according to the requirements of "educators," "professors" and "teachers' institutes," and to keep everything going with accelerated motion under a full head of steam requires an increasing tax each year. The unprecedented levy of seven mills was asked by the directors, or rather through the directors by the engineers of the machine, and the tax payers answered by voting just one-half of the amount "Advanced ideas of education" have grown to very full proportions here It will be an excellent thing to reduce their bulk by keeping them on low diet for a proper time.

It cannot escape notice that the excessive expenditure into which the district has been led and the further excessive expenditure which the machine has endeavored to bring about are mainly the outgrowth of the desire to create and support that wholly unnecessary and aristocratic "annex" to the public school system called the high school Upon a building for this school, according to the report of the directors, over $54 000 have already been expended and they say it will cost from $30 000 to $60 000 more to complete it Judging from the manner in which all the former estimates of the board have been exceeded, $80 000 will be the nearer figure, and as the ground on which the building stands cost $30 000, no less a sum than $160 000 will be invested in a building for a department of the school that ought never to exist at all What is this but a greedy squab hatched in the nest of the common school system, and crowding out or starving the nestlings that rightly belong there? It cannot be doubted, from the temper which the meeting evinced, that had a motion been put to cut this costly addition off from its relation to the common schools, or if it is to be continued, to require all who attend to pay tuition fees for its support, out of which the "professors" were to get their pay or do without, the motion would have carried with practical unanimity

A modest building would answer for a common school, but a high school must have a building of imposing proportions and costly materials Since this is the end for which, under the management of our "advanced educators" the whole public school system exists, the high school must be made worthy of its exalted place at the head of the system, and so there must be a building which will correspond with the pretensions of this school and the dignity of the "professors" Estimates for expenditures for this purpose, added to past expenditures for it, have created a demand for just twice the tax which the people deem sufficient for support of the schools of the city. It was not supposed that the directors would erect a building that would cost over $50,000 at the outside figure In doing so they have exceeded the expectations, if not the direct instructions, of those from whom their authority is derived In their report of last year the directors admitted that they had violated the orders given at the taxpayers meeting That is, since the professors give the law as to the grading of the schools, the course and range of study, the amount of salaries, the methods of organization, the style of buildings and of furniture, and the general management of the schools, of course it is not possible under these conditions to obey the orders of the tax payers It is time to put the knife to this system or to strangle it, and the best way of all to do it is to cut off the supply of money which has been relied on for its support. Let us have everything necessary for elementary schools including simplicity in their organization and management but dethrone the so-called high school, let out the city superintendent, get the special law repealed which he and his teachers institute got through the legislature for the support of their machine, and, as rapidly as possible, elect directors who will take the management into their own hands

THE EMPTY SHIRT

A western editor says "there are at least two more presidents in the bloody shirt" This is a great mistake The last two presidents were not elected on that issue Among the last acts of General Grant's administration was a plain notice from him to the southern republicans that they could not be longer upheld by the federal power, and his successor immediately withdrew the troops from the south A few stalwart republicans believed at the close of President Hayes' term that the northern heart could be fired again and Mr. Blaine and Mr Conkling pitched their first speeches on the "outrage" key But the voters did not respond. Maine was lost in September, and then the plan of campaign was changed and the election was virtually carried on the plan of "letting well enough alone" The fact of the disappearance of the old sectional issues was recognized by President Garfield in his inaugural address "We may hasten or we may retard, he said "but we cannot prevent the final reconciliation Is it not possible for us now to make a truce with time by anticipating and accepting its inevitable verdict?" Enterprises of the highest importance to our moral and material well being invite us, and offer ample scope for the employment of our best powers Let all our people leaving behind them the battlefield of dead issues, move forward and, in the strength of liberty and the beloved Union win the grandest victories of peace" President Arthur in his first message to congress, for the first time since the beginning of the agitation which resulted in the rebellion, made no reference whatever to the south, as a political entity, thus showing that the old issue was finally closed. The failure of the senate under the lead of Sherman and Mahone to excite any general interest in the investigation of the election riots in Virginia and Mississippi is a still further proof that the republican party will look elsewhere than to the "bloody shirt" for inspiration in the coming campaign, or it will look in vain

---

C P Huntington in his appeal to the senate committee on public lands, for the Texas Pacific land grant, made a significant remark, which confirms the public impression in regard to the policy of the Central Pacific syndicate. He said this syndicate no longer owns the control of the stock of that road. There are now over 7000 stockholders and the present managers can be ousted whenever these stockholders may agree to do so The Huntington party having a road of their own—the Southern Pacific—which they built mostly out of the earnings of the Central Pacific, are willing to let the new holders settle with the government when the latter demands payment of its debt The capital stock of the Central Pacific is $51 000,000, every dollar of which is water It was all owned six years ago by the four men—Stanford, Crocker, Huntington and Hopkins They have made a 3 per cent. dividend on that sum regularly each year, and have gradually unloaded the stock at from $95 down to $75 a share

---

The new school building on Morrison street ought to be finished but it never ought to be used for a high school It should be completed and used for the accommodation of the rapidly increasing number of children in primary studies War is to be waged on this high school fungus till it is utterly cut off Had a proposition been submitted on Monday night to abolish it, it would have been adopted by an overwhelming vote It is not the business of the city to keep up an academy for the comparatively few.

PLAYING SECOND FIDDLE

At the recent meeting of the national democratic committee Mr Sterling Morton, the member from Nebraska, proposed to adopt as a call for the election of delegates to the convention a very practical statement of the issues on which, as the western democrats generally hold the campaign will have to be and ought to be fought The proposition was not adopted but it appears in the special correspondence of the New York Herald Its rejection illustrates the timidity of the leaders of the party, as well as the colorless call that was adopted and for that reason is worth reading It proposed to invite to participate in the choice of delegates "all citizens of the United States, whatever their political connections may have heretofore been who now hold with the democracy of the Union that taxes can constitutionally be levied on the people only with the intent and result of getting money into the national treasury with which to pay the debts and provide for the common defence and general welfare of the United States and that these taxes should be so small as neither to heap up surplus revenue in the treasury nor artificially raise the prices of the necessaries and comforts of life that all national legislation creating any privileged class either under tariff laws or patent laws or otherwise, is always at the expense of the people and ought always to be resisted by them through agitation and repeal, till all the citizens in fact enjoy equal rights under the government, that capitalists as such, are entitled to no more weight in our system of government than laborers, as such and that the real interests of these two classes under fair and equal laws are identical and that all laborers are entitled to expend their wages for the commodity of their choice at the natural prices of such commodities in the markets of the world, that the powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution nor prohibited by it to the state are reserved to the states respectively or to the people, and that the expenditures from the national treasury should be sharply watched and be made strictly to conform in amount to the product of the light and simple taxes which alone are needful to meet the current expenses of our national government and to provide for the gradual extinction of the public debt"

Such a call would have been significant. It would have shown that the party proposed to stand on ground of its own instead of insecurely balancing itself on the edge of the republican platform. The repeated failures of the democrats to win a substantial victory, which would allow "the boys to come in and warm their toes," has doubtless contributed to their timidity, but the real reason for their continuing to "play second fiddle" to the republicans as they now propose to do is that they want substantially just what the republicans have had They want the offices first and then the privileges and monopolies which the republicans have enjoyed and helped to create, the support and favor of capital and corporate power The democrats in the south have always been aristocrats and have never believed that the people should rule It has never been their doctrine that all citizens should in fact enjoy equal rights under the government Many of their leaders in the north are in full sympathy with the most unrepublican republicans that class which wants the idol of capital for president, a man in whom the great corporations have full confidence It is not strange therefore, that the democratic conservative national committee should have viewed with great alarm a proposition to invite to the convention men who hold "that capitalists, as such are entitled to no more weight in our system of government than laborers

And all their talk about candidates reveals the same ignorance, or thinly disguised contempt on the part of the leaders of the sentiment of the people and unwillingness that this sentiment should control Like the rich men of Wordsworth's time they "taint the air with words of apprehension and despair" Mr Flower is mentioned as a candidate, a first-rate dark horse simply because he carried a New York city district once for congress by the use of money Mr Randall is nominated because he is the ally of capital, and the old ticket is still cherished as a last resort on account of the barrel it stands for In the last reported interview with Mr Tilden he deprecated the present effort of democrats in congress to reform the tariff and advised the selection of a candidate for the presidency who "would carry the doubtful eastern states, a gentleman in whom the great industrial and business interests had full and entire confidence Without such a candidate he did not believe the party could succeed This is the policy which the aristocratic leaders are forcing upon the party In the south the leaders are hereditary aristocrats, with no sympathy for the people but determined that the people shall only vote to register their will In the north the leaders have as little sympathy for the people and, like all moneyed aristocrats, a deeper contempt for them The leaders in the doubtful eastern states simply aim to secure the power which the worst element of the republican party has converted into a source of private gain, In a word the democratic party lacks disinterested, unselfish and patriotic leaders and so long as it exists in this condition it must depend upon gross mistakes in the conduct of republicans for its success In their chosen field the republicans are much the strongest and if the democrats play the second fiddle in their canvass they will not rise from that humble position in the counting of votes

The republicans propose to make defense of the present high protective tariff a test of party membership, and appeal to capital for support Two parties cannot successfully contend for the same issue If the leaders of the democracy were wise they would adopt the suggestion of the western member of the committee and strike for the people's rights In that case he said "we shall need no barrels, neither a New York flower barrel nor an Ohio oil barrel, if we shirk the issue we shall be beaten and ought to be beaten And he might have added that after their deserved defeat they should have the decency to throw off their disguise and no longer masquerade as democrats

THE ATMOSPHERE CLEARING

The recent decision of Judge Wallace of New York in the Memphis and Little Rock railroad suit has attracted some attention in financial circles, and is deserving of still further notice, because it shows that the judge is not disposed this year to make robbery property, as judges have formerly done in some instances in this country This railroad was an important connection and feeder for the Iron Mountain railroad but owned by independent parties. In May 1877 it was foreclosed and sold by the bondholders, who held $2 600 000 of 8 per cent bonds on it The bondholders bought it in, reorganized the company and issued to themselves new 8 per cent bonds to the same amount, and as there was $1 300,000 unpaid coupons on the old bonds they turned these into a like amount of common stock In 1880 the majority of the stock and control of the property was acquired by Marquand, Gould and Sage, acting as trustees of the Iron Mountain Having thus secured possession, they paid one coupon on the bonds and refused to pay any more, put the road into a receiver's hands on a debt for money said to have been advanced by Sage, and then proceeded to dress down the bondholders An 8 per cent bond they said was out of the question, and they attempted to enforce an exchange for a 5 per cent bond This was refused and a 6 per cent. bond was offered. Some of the poorer bondholders were willing to accept this in preference to a law suit, which they could not afford, but others who were more independent would not submit to be robbed. Then of course a resort was had to the courts the usual way with such schemers and in which they have often succeeded, to annul the bonds and mortgage. But Judge Wallace, as we have said, declined to be used as an instrument for the seizure of this property In rendering his decision he said "The present case is phenomenal in the audacity of the attempt to induce a court of equity to assist a corporation in repudiating its obligations to its creditors without offering to return the property it acquired by its unauthorized contract with them" But unfortunately his case "is not phenomenal in its audacity" says the New York Times The difference is that this is the year 1884, and not 1881 The courts have contributed enough toward the fortunes of Jay Gould and men of his kind by giving the sanction of judicial degrees to their seizure of other people's property and it is time a halt was called Judge Wallace has established a good precedent which ought to broaden down into a law, until the seizure of property is no longer encouraged by the courts

In his defense of the action of the board of land commissioners on the swamp land question Governor Thayer admits that their interpretation of the law is possibly erroneous This is a noteworthy concession Nothing is more certain than that the legislature, when it enacted the law of 1878, intended to repeal the original swamp land act of 1870, and moreover it intended to make void the applications that had been made under that law In few cases perhaps in none, had the law been complied with The 20 per cent had not been paid nor could any steps possibly be taken by the state to dispose of the lands till it became known whether the state had lands or not Governor Thayer appears to think that the persons who had filed on the lands had vested rights But before their rights could become vested the law was repealed. He says that the law of 1878 did not take effect till ninety days after its passage and meantime certain persons who had filed on the lands came in and paid the 20 per cent Those dates (July 21 1880, and February 23 1881), when Hen Owen paid in 20 per cent and took certificates of the sale to himself of 122 000 acres—Thayer being governor—were certainly later than ninety days after the passage of the act of October 1878 The ex governor's explanation seems to be an exceedingly strained and very unsound interpretation of the law. When it is observed too, that it was strained to such extent in the interest of most dishonest land grabbing, astonishment increases From the tone of Governor Thayer's letter the inference is naturally drawn that he cannot but regret that he did not take a different stand when the subject came before him for official action

In their report on the high school building the directors say "The board furnished all the cement used" Was it not bought of Chairman Wadhams, and if so why was not the fact directly reported? Even the city superintendent's new school law says "It shall be unlawful for any member of the school board to bid or to be an interested party in any bid before such board"

THE SWAMP LANDS

Portland March 4 1884

To the Editor of the Oregonian

In your issue of this morning in the column headed "The Swamp Land Business" you leave the impression that the act of 1870 for the sale of swamp and overflowed lands was entirely annulled by the act of 1878 and that the only remedy left to any of the applicants for the purchase of those lands under the act of 1870, was to purchase them at $2 50 per acre In justice to the board for the sale of school and university lands, of which I had the honor of being a member I desire to state that its members took a different view from that, and I presume that those of the present board do also They thought erroneously possibly, that the act of 1878 did not affect the act of 1870 as to applications for purchases made previous to the passage of the act of 1878 which had been regularly made and the applicants had fully complied with its terms and requirements of the law under which they were made The board doubted the authority of the legislative assembly to affect that class of applicants if it had intended to have done so as it would have been an act impairing the obligation of a contract The act of 1878 contained a declaration that applications for such purchases not regularly made or if regularly made but the terms of the law not fully complied with were void That was the result without any legislative declaration The act of 1870 pointed out a mode for making application to purchase swamp lands and prescribed what acts should be done in order to effect the purchase and it does not require the wisdom of a legislature to know that no rights could be acquired under such a law without complying with its requirements But the said board did not think that the legislative assembly intended that applicants under the act of 1870 could not acquire the land except on payment of $2 50 per acre The board was credulous enough to believe that the act of 1878 allowed an applicant whose application had been duly made and who had complied with the law thereafter, to receive a conveyance of the land applied for upon the payment of $2 50 per acre without proof of reclamation as required by the act of 1870 This the board thought was simply a privilege to such applicants which they could either avail themselves of, or if they did not desire to do so could make reclamation and have the land by paying the dollar an acre as provided in the act of 1870

There had been, as your article referred to states a large number of applications to purchase swamp lands under the act of 1870 at the time of the passage of the act of 1878 and in the issuance of certificates of sale to applicants which in effect, were but receipts for the twenty per cent of the purchase money, the regularity of the application and compliance with the law under which it was made were considered The act of 1878 did not go into effect until ninety days after its passage and during that interval the 20 per cent had been tendered the board where it had not already been paid I have never known of any disposition upon the part of the members of the former board to aid any party in acquiring swamp lands except by a substantial compliance with the law, and very much doubt whether any such motive prevails with those of the present. The disposal of that class of lands is a vexed subject, and will continue to be so until they are listed to the state It would have been better in my judgment if the grant to the state had never been made but I see no way of getting out of the difficulty except to secure an approval of the selections and sell the lands to the best advantage under the circumstances Whoever is charged with the duty of selling them must of course submit to a sharp criticism upon the part of the public however faithfully that duty may be discharged

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

East Portland Feb 29

To the Editor of the Oregonian

Your issue of yesterday took a bold stand in regard to the high school Such is essentially necessary I entirely agree with you If I desire my boy to learn the trade of carpenter surely I ought not to ask the state to pay for his education in that particular craft It is just so with the high school If my boy be intended for some clerical profession, it is not right for me to expect the taxes to fit him for it The state does owe to every person within its limits an education to fit him for citizenship but here it ought to stop It may be asked, what amount of education then ought the state give to the youth of its inhabitants? It ought to give them a knowledge of reading, writing and arithmetic to fit them for the office of citizenship Reading should include geography grammar and history writing, should include the formation of the script letters and dictation and arithmetic should include mental and written The late Charles Sumner was once asked what he deemed a good education and he replied "To read understandingly and to know the four ground rules of arithmetic" Was he not right? There is little need of more in life

The text books are made to sell not to help the poor little wretch who is compelled to con them over I perfectly agree with your correspondent who reports that it is very wrong to keep a boy studying the simple rules after he has mastered percentage in a lower grade series The elaborate explanations given in arithmetics should be printed in a separate volume for the teachers use No pupil ever reads them Every rule should be given fully and when a pupil has mastered addition he should not be required to spend days and months over it again The teacher might, by way of exercise give review work occasionally

Geography should include a fair knowledge of the geography of the United States America and something of the other great divisions of the globe so that the names of places in newspapers and history would be familiar

Grammar should include the parsing of the various sentences and compositions It seems as if the grammar was so much simplified that it takes a philosopher to understand its simplifications The analysis of sentences is different by every author—all making it simple

The higher studies are the rights of parental solicitude, and the state should end where it begins Away with high schools they are for the aristocracy who can well afford to pay for education The poor man has to pay for the education of the rich man's child

The Origin of Blaine's Wealth

Washington Letter to Philadelphia Press

In a little company of gentlemen the other day a very prominent journalist said he had always respected Mr Blaine, and admired him and liked him but he often wondered how it was that the great Maine statesman had become so rich General Beale who is probably General Grant's most intimate friend and who is probably not very intimate with Mr Blaine thereupon had something to say I was not present and rely on a third person who was present for my facts General Beale said he knew something of Mr Blaine's resources He said that he in company with General Grant, had visited Mr Blaine's coal fields in Pennsylvania, which the latter bought for a few thousand dollars while he was in congress and before the mines were developed General Beale said the mines had since been opened in many places, and they disclosed solid beds of coal seventeen feet deep and covering hundreds of acres I forgot how many thousands of tons of coal were taken out every week, but the amount, according to General Beale, was enormous It was stated that a company had been formed and a private railway built to the mines The impression that General Beale left was that Blaine would one day be a very rich man

HAVE WE A BOARD OF DIRECTORS?

Portland March 4

To the Editor of The Oregonian:

In view of the approaching election for school directors in this district it may not be impertinent to inquire into the legal status of our present board

Section 3 article 8 of the state constitution directs that "the legislative assembly shall provide by law for the establishment of a uniform and general system of common schools"

The last clause of section article 15 of the same instrument declares that "the legislative assembly shall not create any office the tenure of which shall be longer than four years The law of 1872 provided for the organization of school districts, with a board of three directors elected for a term of three years

In 1882 certain interested parties procured the passage by the legislature of the act found at page 38 of the session laws of that year which act was primarily intended for the organization and government of the schools of this city.

In order to avoid the constitutional inhibition against the passage of local laws this act was made general in terms with a local application Without considering the constitutionality of the entire act, it is sufficient for the purpose of this inquiry to call attention to section 3 thereof which provides that in all districts created under said act the board of directors shall consist of five members each of whom shall hold office for a term of five years

It would seem to a layman that without question the section quoted is clearly unconstitutional and void

Granting the premises a series of interesting questions will at once suggest themselves in the solution of which our lawyers will doubtless wearily urge their learned pros and cons

If the act last cited is void what is the effect on the organization of the district?

Is the present board a legal one, and if not can its acts be held good by any legal quibbling about de facto officers

Can there be de facto officers where there is no office?

How many directors should be chosen at the approaching election?

And how long will they hold? The act providing for a term of three years is repealed by implication If it is directly can there be any legal board at all under the circumstances?

In view of the indebtedness of the district, it may be interesting to the creditors to consider their rights and relations to the district. It would seem that an illegal board cannot bind the district and in view of the prevailing hard times it might be well for the tax payers to take legal steps to protect the interests of the district in that behalf

However it may be that the creditors can protect themselves by holding the members of an illegal board to a personal and individual liability for their acts Considering the magnitude of the interests involved the questions suggested are important It is to be feared that in crafting and procuring the passage of the act of 1882 in question the autocrat of the city schools got in too deep water himself and if he doesn't get the district into hot water before he relaxes his comprehensive efforts it will be owing rather to good luck than good judgment

BREAKFAST.
"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

THE BLOXAM TRIAL.

All the Evidence for State and Defense Concluded.

NO NEW FACTS IN THE CASE DEVELOPED

Opening Argument by Mr Mulkey Trying to Show Malice—Mr Campbell Endeavors to Show Self Defense for Bloxam

At the opening of court yesterday morning Bloxam was put on the stand and concluded his testimony as follows

At the time of shooting Mrs Fisher was three or four feet ahead of me and two feet to the left she did not say when Fisher was shot "Now you've got enough of it" or something of that sort not that I heard

Herman Nelstad sworn Live in East Portland knew Jacob Fisher about Christmas had a conversation with him he said he did not like to see that butcher around the house and that he had hired a man to watch Bloxam did not say anything about arms saw a knife and revolver he had at home I told Bloxam went over and saw him the old man had been drinking and I didn't want him to get into trouble

The defense here rested and Prosecuting Attorney Caples in rebuttal called T J Mountain who testified Was on the ground about an hour after the shooting examined the path where the scuffling and shooting occurred there was only one place that I saw that was about seventy five yards from Fisher's house and eight or ten feet square Mrs Fisher had no mud on her clothing her hair was hanging down little blood on her head

Sheriff George C Sears called Went over said ground next forenoon after the shooting Went right along the trail Saw one place six or eight feet square that looked as if they had been scuffling That was all

Cross examined I found a week after that in examining the same ground a woman's shoe Mrs Fisher Reymunt Mary and other children were along and Mary said it was her mother's Trail of gun used appeared to be [illegible] The shoe was close to the trail Don't know how long it had been there

T M Richardson called He was asked as to Fisher's character but the question was objected to and the objection sustained

The pardon of John Zeigler was submitted to the court and jury and a portion of it read showing that he had pleaded guilty from ignorance of the English language and that there was strong probability of his innocence

Reymunt Fisher recalled in rebuttal Thomas Malone never had any conversation with him in reference to shaking a pistol in father's face Father was not going up the hill when shot, but coming down father was shot in the hand badly concerning the lifting of my mother by the hair as father is charged with doing I never saw it, nor any tracks indicating it the cuff was on the plowed ground where clover had been sown father never said anything till the last shot struck him don't know whether he had been drinking or not, but saw nothing to indicate it

Coroner Cooke called to the stand Examined ground Sunday morning at 9 o'clock after the shooting didn't appear to me anyone had been dragged around

Thomas J Mountain recalled I noticed with reference to the number of chambers fired in the old pistol at Fisher's two of the cylinders had been emptied and four were loaded the pistol used the old fashioned caps and four of them were snapped one chamber was empty then a loaded one then a snapped cap then an empty one, and then the fourth one snapped It looked as if it had been loaded a good while

The state here rested and Mr Caples said that as the defense had closed sooner than was expected he would ask that Mr Mulkey be allowed a few minutes to complete his preparations for the opening argument The court granted the request and juror Hall having asked something about the evidence of Reymunt Fisher on original examination the court stenographer was directed to read The jury were then allowed to retire Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Mulkey opened the argument for the state He gave a long and clear statement of the points of law bearing on the case and presented a grand array of authorities to substantiate his arguments He said the object of having justice done in such cases as this was for the protection of the living not for the vindication of the dead There is no question here about the killing of Fisher It is not denied that it was intentional The question is what was the intention? It is for you gentlemen of the jury to determine from the testimony in the case the degree of the crime and that can only be ascertained by knowing the motive and intention of the prisoner at the time Did he intend to kill Fisher or only to defend himself? Did he act in self defense only or was he prompted by malice? If he was prompted by malice it was murder—if by premeditated malice it was murder in the first degree How can we ascertain the intentions of his mind and the desires of his heart? No witness can look into the secret recesses of his heart and tell what his intentions were You cannot photograph a man's mind We must ascertain his motives from his conduct and from what he said and what he did If his purpose was only to defend himself he had a right to do so but if his purpose was not only to defend himself but to kill Fisher then he is guilty as charged You have heard the testimony and you must decide which of the witnesses have told the truth Was Bloxam's purpose honest or did he try to get Fisher into a controversy for the purpose of killing him? If he went down to Fisher's place for chickens only why did he go armed for a fray? Fisher had a right to do all that he did do and had a right to do more He said he "wanted that loafer to go away" He had armed himself to defend himself as he had a right to do Counsel here reviewed the testimony showing that Fisher had told Mrs Fisher to come in the day time or to let him know when she was coming and referred to the contradictory evidence of witnesses in regard to the struggle between Mr and Mrs Fisher and about her making Fisher give up In regard to Bloxam giving himself up Mr Mulkey said that when he came to the city all he wanted a warrant for old man Fisher after he knew the old man was dead went down there with a falsehood in his mouth to come a Chinese dodge on him and try to get out a warrant first in order to deceive the officers All this kind of thing in connection with his threats shows that Bloxam's object was to get Fisher into a quarrel and then kill him He had said he was too smart for the old man "I can kill him before he can kill me" If he went down there with that intention he is guilty of murder in the first degree If he went only for chickens why was he armed? If he expected a quarrel why did he go? After he had emptied his revolver went and got his gun and returned to the fray He had got out of danger and it was his duty to have staid away but he got his gun and he returned to renew the conflict The difficulty between Mr and Mrs Fisher was all settled and they were on their way home when Bloxam came back The row was over and ended when he returned with his gun and shot the old man There was no necessity for Bloxam to get that gun and come back

The girl Mary Fisher wrote "I will swear against my father what isn't true" She is a witness not entitled to credence in this case The theory that Bloxam took the old man's life in defense of his own is not true

The prisoner has said "I'll leave my mark before I quit Oregon" and he has left it Gentlemen of the jury you want to see that he does not leave another This all bears on the intent the question of malice or premeditated intent the question we have to determine Take all his threats into consideration and it settles the question as to whether he had a good heart He said "I have a pistol and if that fails me I have a c—d good rifle that will fix him" I have no desire to say hard words of this man God knows The witnesses have shown that he is a bad man his heart a seething caldron filled to overflowing with malice wickedness corruptness vindictiveness hatred and revenge

This necessary brief outline gives but a faint idea of one of the best arguments Mr Mulkey has ever made in court here and which showed that he had thoroughly studied the case and mastered every detail of it

The argument for the defense was begun by J A Campbell He denied that the law quoted by Mr Mulkey was applicable in the case under consideration and quoted numerous authorities in regard to premeditation deliberation and self defense in support of his claim that if Bloxam thought that Fisher was going to shoot he had a right to kill him before he had time to shoot It was not only Bloxam's privilege but his duty to go and get his rifle and to try and prevent any felony being committed upon Mrs Fisher and that he had a right to fire the fatal shot because a new assault was about to be committed He claimed that the defense had sustained every proposition they had advanced There had been an effort made to show that a bad feeling existed between Bloxam and Fisher He claimed that young Fisher and his father had entered into a conspiracy to murder Bloxam When Bloxam saw Fisher with a pistol pointed at him he had a right under the law as held by our supreme court to draw his weapon and kill Fisher If Bloxam had retreated he would have given Fisher a chance to put a bullet through his back which would kill him as well as one through his breast

Counsel here alluded to the quarrel between Mr and Mrs Fisher and bestowed a severe rebuke to young Fisher for standing by and seeing his father beat the mother who bore him and who had tended him by night and by day through his helpless infancy

In regard to the killing of Fisher he said If there was ever a case of justifiable homicide this was one of them and the facts bear me out in this statement Counsel for the prosecution says that when Bloxam was safe away he should have staid away I do not believe there is a man on the jury who would not have acted as Bloxam did Hearing the screams of the poor woman he came back to save her from being beaten as every true man would He saw the boy hand his father the shotgun and knowing that his life was in jeopardy fired the fatal shot in self defense It is claimed that Bloxam's testimony should not be allowed because he is an interested party They have no right to say that Did he try to escape? did he fly to the hills? No He walked right down into the heart of this city to the jail among the bars and bolts of a prison and gave himself up

Counsel then gave an idea of how a case is worked up against a man by the police and stated that the prosecution had at its service all the force of policemen to do its bidding and to hatch up testimony against a man They could from few facts make a very strong case There are a lot of fellows after Bloxam's scalp and they will have it if they can get it [illegible] Our witnesses have been kept away and we have had to bring them here by a bench warrant The strength of the prosecution now depends on the eloquence of Mr Caples He will harp on bloody scenes and blood-deeds and try to play on your passions and prejudices He will tell you that you are brave men who will walk up to the mouth of a cannon I don't believe anything of the kind I don't think he will be able to hoodwink you I do not think he will claim it is murder in the first degree or in the second degree but will try to compromise on manslaughter

W W Page then followed for the defense He had only got fairly started when the hour of 5 arrived By mutual consent of counsel further argument was postponed till this morning

PANIC IN THE COURT HOUSE —Yesterday afternoon the plaster of paris ornament in the center of the dome of the county court house fell while lawyer Campbell was addressing the jury in the Bloxam case A cracking gave warning and several persons seated under the dome rose hastily and got out of the way just in time to escape being hit by the piece which weighed about ten pounds. It struck with a loud report startling court jury lawyers and spectators The latter made a rush for the door and for a few seconds a disastrous panic seemed imminent Judge Smith and others shouted to the now excited crowd to remain still and soon order was restored

NEAR TO DEATH.

One of the Wounds of William Rose Begins Bleeding Again—A Punctured Artery That May Prove Fatal

About 11:30 o'clock last night the principal wound received by William Rose from the dirk knife of Thomas Sheridan began bleeding again and the fears that this would prove fatal were again renewed His breath grew short and painful and his firm lips were set tight in his endeavor to conceal his weakness and suffering Captain Hall who was on watch at the time did everything possible to staunch the continued flow of blood and telephoned immediately for Dr Wheeler

When the latter came and examined his patient he too feared that the worst might quickly happen For the purpose of consultation he telephoned for Dr G M Wells and together they succeeded after some difficulty in checking the bleeding Then they retired for a short time to Dr Wells' office in order to discuss the probable cause of the renewed bleeding and consider what was now best to be done

In the meantime two policemen had been sent up to the county jail to get Sheridan the would be murderer for the purpose of having his victim identify him Policeman Collins was stationed at the bedside of the wounded man in order by compressing the artery to prevent any further bleeding No one else was allowed in the room until the doctors return When Sheridan securely handcuffed was brought into the captain's office he exhibited the utmost nonchalance although well aware of the purpose of this midnight visit He led the conversation with the officers and in the most cold blooded manner possible talked of the details of the Bloxam trial What do you think they will do with him hang him? said he When this subject had been worn he branched off on the Yeale murder and commented sharply upon that

Shortly after midnight the surgeons returned and Sheridan was brought face to face with his victim The latter lay upon his rude cot his breast bared and bloody contrasting with the singularly pale face and the angry wound gaping wide in a mute appeal for vengeance Sheridan gave but one glance at the strong man stricken down by his murderous hand and then fixed his eyes resolutely on the floor In a labored voice Rose murmured his recognition of his assailant and positively identified him as the man who stabbed him Sheridan was then taken back to the county jail

This sudden change for the worse in the wounded man's condition was almost wholly unexpected Beyond the great loss of blood he was thought to be in no immediate danger But the breaking open of the wound again showed that the injury was a most serious one The knife is now supposed to have punctured the external coat of the subclavian artery or some other in its vicinity An aneurism supervened and bursting set up violent arterial bleeding through the original wound

This bleeding was arrested by the formation of a clot and the surgeons applied a compress and India rubber bandaging If the man rallies it is thought the operation of ligating the injured blood vessel may be indicated

THE ORCHESTRAL CONCERT.

The third concert of the series of this season was given last night at the Masonic hall The programme carefully pruned down to nine numbers opened with the overture to Rossini's "Barber of Seville" The performance of this work suffered materially from the same shortcoming which too often characterizes the opening pieces—faulty tuning A little time devoted to a bet preparation in this respect on the platform would mitigate the evil A fantasia for solo cello and string quartette accompaniment followed It had for its title "Un true" and was in many parts of its performance singularly so Mr Edgar Coursen played and played finely a violin concerto by Vieuxtemps The orchestral accompaniments to this taking into consideration the sudden changes of tempo and ad libitum passages with which this class of composition abounds were very fairly executed The closing work of the first part was the first movement of the celebrated unfinished B minor symphony of Schubert Of this performance by our justly vaunted orchestra it is only possible to speak in warm praise The symphony is a darling of musicians and the players last night caught the spirit of its beauty and the result was the best bit of orchestra playing the union has yet done The selection from Meyerbeer's "Dinorah" and the "Skaters" waltz were excellently performed and the "Traumerei" of Schumann went smoothly and delicately

The lady vocalist was Mrs H Metzger who sang with much dramatic power and with all the artful phrasing which regard the cultivated singer the ever acceptable Robert toi que j'aime She received loud and long applause In the second part Mrs Metzger sang Schubert's "Serenade"

This is perhaps the time and place to wonder and bid why the musical committee of the society fails to select among the chamber music of its programme from the many classical compositions which while of pure merit from the musician's punctilious standpoint are for audiences quite easy to take Better banish the idea if it exists that such music will not be palatable Two movements from a Mozart or Bethoven quartette would surely have left a better taste on the most unpalatable musical palate than all the "Entre"

It must have been a pleasant thing to the members of the Orchestral Union last night to have their president Mr Prescott once more at the wand's [illegible] Somehow his absence has had a [illegible] ill [illegible] to depress and his return in good health to resume his warm advocacy and interest will be most welcome

MATTERS ABOUT THE MINES

The First Steamboat Nearly Ready—Mine Bought by Portlanders—News Notes

Mr E J Hatch the steamboatman yesterday purchased and shipped to Coeur d'Alene City furnishings for the new steamer just completed and is now ready to drop into the lake as soon as the ice is out of the way Captain Sanburn of Portland has been at Coeur d'Alene city superintending the building of the boat, and he will take her up to the mines or as near as she can get, probably within the next ten days and perhaps sooner A correspondent of THE OREGONIAN who has just returned from Coeur d'Alene City describes the boat as a beauty She is 125 feet long and 26 feet wide, so constructed as to run light and yet carry from 120 to 150 tons Lightly loaded she can run in 3 inches of water and Captain Sanburn has watched every inch of her growth with a view to having her in trim for just such trips as must be made The croakers say that no boat can be taken above the Mission but they admit that Captain Sanburn has taken such steps as will get his boat up the river if any can ever go He has been over the route and has men employed in clearing the river where logs have lodged The gentlemen who constitute the Coeur d'Alene Steam Navigation Company have no doubt of Captain Sanburn's ability to go up the river to a point near Eagle City—say within ten or twelve miles The boat has her machinery all in and with such weather as is reported will be in the water in a few days She is comfortably fitted for passengers with a saloon parlor and state rooms and will run to connect with the stages from Rathdrum and Spokane Falls It is the opinion of those who have been to the mines that this boat will afford the only cheap and comfortable way in Certainly it will be a comfortable mode of travel and the trip can be made in less than a third of the time it will take to go by any other way The boat is a Portland affair, built throughout in her machinery, outfitting, upholstery and furniture—and will be ready to take passengers and freight from the first opening of travel Of course Rathdrum being so near the lake will get the bulk of all the travel Spokane Falls is a larger place and from there leads a filling every day The greater distance is in a measure compensated by the ardour of the citizens in making transportation cheap and easy

PORTLANDERS BUY A MINE

Last Thursday the Tiger quartz mine situated on the right hand fork of Beaver creek in the celebrated Galena belt of the Coeur d'Alene district was sold to Portland capitalists It is the intention of the purchasers to develop the mine and determine as soon as possible whether the quartz lodes which are so well defined in this district are as rich as the assays show the outcroppings to be This mine was one of the first located last fall by William Martin sheriff of Kootenai county and shows a vein as far as developed of from seven to nine feet in width of free milling ore

MATTERS IN THE MINES

A letter received by a resident of this city from John H Miller who went from here in January and has been made recorder for Murrayville above Eagle City speaks hopefully of prospects while the writer admits that nobody can tell much about them while everything is under the snow Mr Miller says "There are lots of men in here now and more coming Three women came through over the Trout creek trail a few days ago dressed in men's clothes and they were able to behold Gambling and whisky carry the day here There are five towns in the main gulch—Eagle City Murrayville Butte Raven City and Sullivan City Property is high and the excitement is kept up with some new strikes every day Flour is $40 per barrel bacon 40 cents beans 40 cents sugar 50 cents coffee 75 cents and $1 tea $1 25 and $1 60 axes $5 jack planes $3 50 seven foot cross cut saws $16 butter $1 per pound and gum boots $10 per pair

ALBANY NOTES.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT]

ALBANY, March 3

Ed Walters, a farmer living near here has gone to the bay where he has a contract for hauling freight at the rate of $10 per ton

The embarrassment of Mr J G Cherry was only temporary and a satisfactory settlement being made with the creditors business is again moving along lively at the foundry

The McCully came up last evening with 250 more Chinamen for the railroad This steamer has a contract for bringing up 2000 Celestials who will immediately commence work on the road

Mr Joseph of the firm of Hoffman & Joseph has purchased of Messrs. Hill and Tate their property on First street, occupied by Mr Gradwohl as a machinery depot. Consideration $2000

Peters & Blain, Wells Fargo & Co's agent in this city have resigned the agency of that company and N J Henton has been appointed in their stead The office will be in the Odd Fellows building next door to the postoffice

Thomas Buford of Corvallis was in the city yesterday From him your correspondent learned that last Saturday the tug Favorite arrived from San Francisco and also two vessels loaded with rail and iron had arrived off the bar but were unable to enter on account of the dense fog The tug drawing eighteen feet crossed the bar at half tide

Ralph Fisher an employe in Frink & Sons factory met with an accident last Saturday He was at work in the machine room when the belt that runs the grindstone in some manner became caught and the stone was hurled against Mr Fisher knocking him across the room and rendering him senseless Two men who happened to be passing saw the accident and hurrying in rendered their assistance in helping the injured man home where he was properly cared for

One day last week Deputy Sheriff Smith who attends to the wants of the six prisoners confined in the county jail missed one of the case knives when the dishes were returned from dinner The next day he informed Sheriff Humphrey of the fact who asked the prisoners in regard to it but all stoutly denied having seen it The sheriff however was not satisfied and assisted by Mr Boch they made a most thorough search and it was found in young Findlayson's bed That young man assisted by another prisoner had commenced converting it into a saw having already made two teeth in the blade and had it not been found they would probably soon have been attempting to make their escape

Josephine	[illegible]	Yamhill	[illegible]
Klamath	2
Total			206

The same being one delegate at large from each county and one delegate for every 125 votes, and one for every fraction over one-half thereof cast for Hon M C George Congressman at the last general election.

The committee recommend that the primaries be held on Saturday the 12th day of April and the county conventions on Tuesday the 22d day of April unless otherwise ordered by the proper County Central Committees.

The committee earnestly recommend that the delegates elected to the State Convention attend in person and if not convenient for them to so attend personally that they send their proxies by electors of the county they represent.

The Republican voters of the state without regard to past political differences, who are in favor of elevating and dignifying American labor giving free popular education to the masses of the people, effectually protecting all human rights in every section of our common country and who desire to promote friendly feeling and permanent harmony throughout the state by maintaining a government pledged to these objects and privileges, are cordially invited to unite in selecting delegates to the Republican State Convention SOL. DIRECTORS REPORT

To the Voters of School District No 21—Ladies and Gentlemen During the past year the course of study for the public schools has been re-arranged and extended the schools properly classified the school year changed from ten to nine months divided into three terms of sixty days each the regulations for constant and unnecessary examinations and reports from teachers have been abolished and the general efficiency of the schools we think greatly improved

The school clerk's report for the year shows the the school tax collected amounts to $7 [illegible] 65 and a delinquent list amounting to $589 87 has been turned over to the sheriff for collection Of the amount collected one mill amounting to $1 55[illegible] [illegible] was voted at the last school meeting for the completion of the Central school building and $873 60 was used for that purpose two mills or $3 119 06 was voted for the building of a new school house in Stephens addition and $3 634 50 was found necessary to be used for that purpose

A tax of one mill was voted as a sinking fund for the purchase of school grounds in the northern portion of the district and the directors were authorized to sell the block on J street and apply the same with said tax for the purchase of a block in said locality and every effort has been made during the past year to accomplish this result but as the directors were not authorized at the last school meeting to contract any indebtedness on the part of the district no exchange or purchase of property could be made

At the last school meeting the directors recommended a tax of two mills for school purposes This was reduced by the meeting to one mill supposing that the law increasing the county levy for school purposes one mill would take effect that year but this not being the case, the directors have been forced to borrow the sinking fund created for the purchase of a block in the northern portion of the district for the purpose of continuing the present school during the year and consequently the indebtedness of the district with all outstanding warrants paid is $1 55[illegible] [illegible] the amount of said one mill tax or sinking fund

To complete the main building in Stephens addition and furnish the upper room of the present building thereby giving four school rooms to that portion of the district without using the one-story building first erected there will require an expenditure of at least $7000 This amount could be procured by a loan on long time and at a low rate of interest This subject is referred to you without further comment and without any recommendation

If the district wishes to purchase the block in the northern portion of the district this year we have received the following propositions which we submit for your consideration Mrs E J Campbell offers to sell block 207 between F and E and Twelfth and Thirteenth streets for $7500, W S Ladd offers to exchange block 193 between B and C and Ninth and Tenth streets for the north half of the J street block leaving the district the south half of said block, for $5000 also to exchange block 23[illegible] between A and B and Eleventh and Twelfth streets for the north half of the J street block and $2000 The amount necessary to effect an exchange for either of said blocks or for the purchase of a block could easily be procured by a loan if properly authorized by the district This matter is also submitted to your consideration without recommendation In our opinion however property can now be purchased much cheaper than you will be able to purchase another year and the number of available blocks is constantly growing less

For the coming year we would recommend a special tax of three mills one mill to replace the amount borrowed from sinking fund for purchase of block in northern portion of district and two mills for the completion of the upper room in the Stephens addition building and for carrying on the schools during the coming year The above estimates are based upon a valuation of the property in the school district as made by the county assessor any higher or lower valuation would change materially the amount realized from the tax we have recommended In that connection we would recommend that it be declared as the expression of the district that the school clerk in making up his assessment roll should take the same standard for valuations as that used by the county assessor in making up his assessment Respectfully

J A NEWELL
J R N BELLWOOD
THOS. TURNBULL

On motion of Dr O H Raffety the report of the directors was adopted

RESOLUTIONS ETC

Cyrus Buckman offered the following resolution and moved its adoption

Resolved, That the board of directors be directed to issue bonds to the amount of $10 000 or less for the purpose of purchasing grounds and erecting buildings thereon in the northern portion of the district said bonds to be issued for not less than five nor more than ten years at a rate of interest not to exceed 7 per cent

J R N Bellwood urged the importance of raising the bonds to $15 000 so as to provide for necessary buildings in Stephens addition and

H Breithaupt amended to increase the bonds to $17 0[illegible] $7000 to be used for building purposes in Stephens' addition.

The amendment was put and lost by a vote of 45 to 26

The original resolution was then put and carried

I N Sanders now moved that a four mill tax be levied for building purposes in Stephens addition and for general purposes

E O Dond amended by reducing to three mills in accordance with the recommendation of the directors

The amendment prevailed by a vote of 48 to 11

Dr S E Josephi moved that a strip of land on L street between Thirteenth and Fourteenth now used as school property be thrown open for common use the appropriation of said strip being the result of a mistake in the deed when the property was purchased by the district from Mrs Ann M Smith The motion was lost

The meeting then adjourned

Mr C B Bellinger read and submitted the directors report for the previous year and after advising the meeting to his best ability, as to the necessary tax which should be levied the report was on motion of J K Laing adopted

ELECTION OF DIRECTOR

Mr O H Hill and Dr Fisher were placed in nomination as candidates for director The latter gentleman declined The vote in the usual manner of balloting resulted in favor of Mr Hill—21 to 2

ELECTION OF CLERK

L F Brann J M Pittenger J W Ramsey and A J Dufur were placed in nomination the vote resulting as follows Mr Brann 11 Mr Dufur 15 Mr Pittenger 2 and Mr Ramsey 4 A J Dufur receiving the greater number of votes was re-elected for the following year

The two officers—Mr Hill director and Mr Dufur clerk—were called to the front and received the oath of office

Mr Pittenger presented to the meeting two resolutions which were unanimously adopted as follows

Resolved That a vote of thanks is hereby tendered to Nathan Hackett Esq for the faithful discharge of his duties as director during the year

Resolved That a vote of thanks be tendered to J B Montgomery for the generous donation to this district of lots 1 2 17 and 18 in block [illegible]0 Albina for school purposes

The total length of the time decided on for the existence of school for the coming year was nine months

The chairman suggested that a five mill tax with a provision of retaining the $[illegible] 100 loan negotiated last year would be amply sufficient to bear the expenditure of the schools of district [illegible] and after unlimited discussion and careful consideration by the audience in attendance the motion prevailed as follows A two-mill tax to be levied for building purposes and general r[illegible] and a three mill tax for the maintenance of schools and material connected therewith

On motion of E R Dufur arrangements were ordered made to extend the [illegible]000 loan negotiated the previous year at the same rate of interest and to appropriate the said loan to providing for the necessary improvements needed in the district and to accommodate the increasing attendance of pupils in the district

The meeting then adjourned

THE DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE

A Meeting Held and Sub-committees Appointed—Tariff Democrats [illegible] Minority

WASHINGTON March 4—The democratic congressional campaign committee met at the Arlington [illegible] and organized for the [illegible] campaign Senator [illegible] chairman of the democratic joint caucus [illegible] and [illegible] Post secretary of the [illegible] acted as secretary of the meeting [illegible] states and [illegible] territories were [illegible] on the campaign committee these being the states and territories [illegible] democratic senator or representative to congress Thirty [illegible] members were present this evening

The following executive committee was selected On the part of the senate Senators Garland Kenna and Gorman on the part of the house Representatives Page Rosecrans Stockslager Stevens and Murphy It was decided that this committee should be empowered to select members of the campaign committee for states and territories not represented in either the senate or the house by a democrat These states and territories are Colorado Kansas Maine Minnesota Nebraska New Hampshire Rhode Island Vermont and Dakota Idaho New Mexico and Washington territories No other business was transacted by the campaign committee

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING

The executive committee met upon adjournment of the campaign committee and organized by electing Senator Gorman chairman and Representative Post secretary Senator Kenna and Representatives Stevens and Stockslager were appointed a sub committee on finance and Senator Garland and Representatives Murphy and Paige a committee on campaign documents the chairman being ex officio member of both sub committees

The committee had an informal talk over arrangements to be made for the campaign but did not enter into discussion of questions of party policy The revenue reform democrats appear to be in the minority On the executive committee Senator Gorman and Senator Kenna are both tariff democrats as are Representatives Paige and Stevens Representatives Stockslager and Murphy were Carlisle men and with Senator Garland represent the tariff reform element of the committee Representative Rosecrans voted for Carlisle for speaker but is an unconditional protectionist and endorses the Ohio tariff platform The secretary of the committee is a tariff democrat In the main the committee is composed of the stronger element of the party

THE LASKER RESOLUTION

General Butler Expresses his Views—Sargent has the Moral Courage

NEW YORK March 4—[Special]—General Butler being interviewed on the Lasker incident, said yesterday Bismarck is anxious to find some reason for the proclamation of an embargo to keep young healthy and educated Germans bound to the military service and from flocking to America at the rate of an army corps a year You must remember that while Bismarck is a great statesman he was a soldier earlier He a soldier before statesman still Everything in Germany is to be sacrificed to military power I sincerely trust that neither our executive nor congress will take any substantial notice of his petulance or impertinence

SARGENT HAS THE MORAL COURAGE

PHILADELPHIA March 4—[Special]—The Press says Perhaps Minister Sargent is lacking in political tact as some Berlin papers assert but he is abundantly supplied with moral courage which is much more to the purpose in facing the dyspeptic diplomat of the Rhine Sargent is cordially supported by the united people of his country while Bismarck relies upon a house divided against itself

ATTACKING MINISTER SARGENT

BERLIN March 4—Newspapers continue their attacks upon Minister Sargent and never has the hospitality which civilized nations recognize as an inviolable right of foreign representatives been more flagrantly outraged by suborned organs Representations have been made to Washington on the subject

THE CITY OF COLUMBUS WRECK

Captain Wright's License Revoked by the Inspectors—Gross Carelessness Charged

BOSTON March 4—The United States inspectors who investigated the wreck of the City of Columbus with a loss of seventy five of her eighty one passengers and twenty eight of fifty four of her crew report that the backing of the engines after the ship struck was a fatal mistake Their report goes on to say When the last course was given that Harbing by Captain Wright the ship was where any ordinary and natural care would have taken her past the fatal rocks without chart or compass We cannot help believing that had a special pilot been on duty no such disaster could have happened on such a night The immediate and direct cause of the disaster was the neglect of the man or men to watch the ship's course Capt S E Wright was the only legal pilot on duty at the time of the disaster and for two hours immediately preceding and for at least one hour before she struck was not at his post of duty as pilot attending to the actual duties and as master of the ship illegally delegating the performance of the duties of pilot to those unauthorized and for inattention to his duties as pilot his license as master and pilot is hereby revoked

The officers of the steamer Glaucus who sighted the wreck and did not go to it as they did not think for a moment of any men being on or near the wreck are not subjected to any penalty

The Detained Wealthy Widow

CHICAGO March 4—The question whether Mrs Jane Brooks the wealthy widow from New York against whom a verdict for $65 000 was given a few days ago by a Chicago jury as being the responsible surety for the defaulting guardian of Stanley P Sexton the son of a once well known contractor of Chicago shall be allowed to depart for Europe without settling the alleged liability was being argued today before Judge Shepard Mrs Brooks was kept from leaving the city by a late evening train by a writ of ne exeat and was placed under the sheriff's surveillance in her room at the Palmer house including a satchel containing $90 000 in drafts and money Her counsel asked the court to quash the writ and dismiss the petition on the ground that it was insufficient and fatally defective in form The hearing will be continued to morrow when it is expected judgment will be rendered

Still in Undisputed Possession

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

Dissenting Opinion of Justice Field in the Legal Tender Case—Other Rulings

WASHINGTON March 4—Following is the dissenting opinion of Justice Field in the legal tender case

If there be anything he says in the history of the constitution which can be established with a moral certainty it is that the framers of that instrument intended to prohibit the issue of legal tender notes both by the general government and states The argument presented by the court and by advocates of legal tender amounts to this The object of borrowing is to raise funds the addition of the quality of legal tender to the notes of the government will induce parties to take them and funds will be more readily loaned but the same thing may be said on the annexing of any other provision which would give to the holder of the notes some advantage as for instance a provision that the notes of the government should serve as a free ticket on public conveyances of the country relieve from taxes to pay [illegible] of admission to public entertainments or exemption from the revenue of private corporations These would in consequence ready acceptance of the notes would follow and yet no one would pretend that the annexing of provisions of this kind with respect to the property of others over which the borrower has no control would be in any sense an appropriate measure to the execution of the power to borrow. In reality it is not a use of the power to borrow but of the right of a third party which may not thus be sanctioned under the pretense that its allowance will tend to a ready acceptance of the government notes and produce the desired loan

In conclusion Justice Field says From the decision of the court I see that only evil is likely to follow If congress has power to make United States notes legal tender and to make them pass as money it may be asked what necessity was there to invest it by constitution with power to borrow money If it can make money, why borrow it? If the United States notes are legal tender quality are money or an equivalent of money why should congress not at once issue a sufficient amount to pay all bonds of the United States Why pay interest on the bonds and millions of bonds when it can in one day make money enough to pay them It would not indeed surprise me if there would be a call from many quarters on the government to issue such notes for bonds Who can object to it if the doctrine declared by the court is sound and why should there be any restraint upon an unlimited appropriation by the government for all imaginary schemes for public improvement The printing press can furnish all the money needed for them

OTHER DECISIONS

A decision was also rendered in the murder case entitled Frederick Hopt plaintiff in error against the people of the territory of Utah in error on account of errors in the ruling of the court below Judgment in this case is reversed and a new trial ordered

A decision was also rendered in the important and long pending land cases of Alfred Sudell et al appellants against George Grantgean and others brought here by appeal from the United States circuit court of the eastern district of Louisiana These cases involve the title of a large quantity of land fronting on the Mississippi river above New Orleans which is known as the Houmas grant The court decided the case in favor of the present occupants of the land and against the claimants under the grant All the cases were affirmed with costs

A decision was also rendered in the case of the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad Company against the Denver and New Orleans Railroad Company appeal from the circuit court of the United States for the district of Colorado This was brought to compel the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad company to unite with the Denver and New Orleans Railroad Company in forming a through line of transportation to and from Denver over the Denver and New Orleans road By the decision of the court below compulsory business connection was established between the two companies and rules laid down regarding their conduct toward each other in this new relation In other words the court made arrangement for business intercourse between these roads such as in its opinion they ought by law to have made for themselves This court held that a constitutional right in Colorado to connect a railroad with a railroad does not therefore imply connect business The court cannot compel one railway to do business with another according to a scheme which they (the court) advised The questions relating to these two roads were in to through business through interchange etc and is considered as legislative rather than judicial and the court cannot attempt to run by decree [illegible] The judgment is reversed and the cause remanded with directions to dismiss the bill without prejudice

THE DELEGATION CHINESE BILL

Favorable Report of the Committee to Which It Was Referred

WASHINGTON March 4—[Special]—In behalf of Representative [illegible] to whom the house committee on foreign affairs has delegated authority to report the Pacific coast Chinese bill intended to present it in the house yesterday but was prevented by an early adjournment He will introduce the report to day and if possible obtain recognition and move to suspend the rules and fix a day for consideration The report accompanying the bill has been completed It is quite short and enters into but one or two of the many arguments favoring the passage of the bill Mr Lamb quotes the opinion of Justice Field in the case of Ah Sing on a habeas corpus rendered before the [illegible] to show that the present exclusion act has not operated as congress intended it should The report then goes on to say that the act of May 6 1882 of which this act is amendatory was the culmination of a long line of legislation commencing with the first passenger act vetoed by President Hayes and the twenty year restriction act vetoed by President Arthur Justice Field in the decision above referred to holds that [illegible] the limits of the supplementary act of 1882 [illegible] and [illegible] with out legislation the decision of the [illegible] and [illegible] your committee [illegible] that would contravene or override the terms of said treaty

THE INTENT OF THE BILL

This bill as prepared will to the representatives of the Pacific states and two territories [illegible] the United States now [illegible] by Chinese [illegible] and is presented for the purpose of perfecting the machinery of exclusion already existing under the act of 1882 This act was intended to exclude Chinese laborers coming from any and every port to our shores To show that it has failed your committee have only to [illegible] the decision of Judges Low and [illegible] of the United States circuit court in [illegible] that Chinese laborers born on the island of Hongkong after its cession to Great Britain are not within the provisions of the act of 1882 and the decision of Justice Field above cited Your committee believe this bill should be enacted into a law so that hereafter there can be no diversity of opinion as to the full meaning and intent of the act of 1882 and that litigation on this subject may be brought to an end

THE COURTS FLOODED

The main features of the evasions as well as attempted evasions of the act that have occurred since its passage through the broad interpretations of the words merchants and travelers together with the notorious capabilities of the lower classes of Chinese for perjury have not only flooded our federal courts of the Pacific coast with cases which being quasi criminal are entitled to precedence over other and more important business, but have proven the inadequacy of the act of 1882 and its failure to meet the demands which called it into existence

A very careful examination of the act of 1882 and of the proposed amendatory act has led your committee to the conclusion that the former requires a thorough revision to conform it to the intent of its framers and the purposes of its creation and that this cannot be better done than by the passage of this amendatory act which is hereby recommended for passage

PETITIONS FOR THE BILL'S PASSAGE

WASHINGTON March 4—[Special]—Petitions were presented to the house this evening asking congress to pass the Pacific coast delegation Chinese bill as follows By Anderson of Kansas from eighty citizens of Topeka; by Lanham from citizens of Polo Texas by Davis of Illinois from citizens of Chicago by McKinley from citizens of Stark county Ohio by Houk from citizens of Tennessee and by Morse from citizens of Woodburn Massachusetts All these petitions emanate from lodges of the Knights of Labor

THE STOCK MARKET

A Lively Day Among the Bulls and Bears—Quotations

NEW YORK March 4—Governments steady rail ways firm Stocks opened strong and higher on the strength of the belief that railroad troubles are about to be fixed up and on advices from Chicago that the Northwestern Traffic Association had continued present rates [illegible] March 1 All selling shares were inactive borrowing demand and Union Pacific [illegible] and Northern Pacific preferred [illegible] A feature was the difference in some of the other stocks cash and delivered This difference was [illegible] per cent In Northern Pacific preferred there was a difference ¼@[illegible] The advance in prices ranged from ¼@2⅜ per cent the latter in Manitoba which advanced from 95 to 97⅜ Union Pacific was favorably affected by report from Boston that the annual statement will show a balance above the 7 per cent dividend of $4 50 @ — equal to 14 2 per cent on the stock—against a surplus in 1882 of $3 [illegible] 000 There was less excitement and activity in Lackawanna although that stock fluctuated frequently Vanderbilt stocks participated in the improvement and were conspicuous in closing

Late in the afternoon the bears raided the market using the announcement of the cutting of rates ordered by the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe railroad to accelerate the decline and prices fell off ⅛ to 1⅜ per cent except Manitoba which dropped ¾ to 96

Compared with last night's close Northern Pacific was 1 lower Lackawanna and Omaha 1 each Two hundred shares of Northern Pacific preferred were bought in under rule on account of Vandyke & Williams

A MARVELOUS STORY

TOLD IN TWO LETTERS

FROM THE SON: "28 Cedar St New York [illegible] 188[illegible]

Gentlemen My father resides at Glover Vt He has been a great sufferer from Scrofula and the inclosed letter will tell you what a marvelous effect

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

has had in his case I think his blood must have contained the humor for at least ten years but it did not show except in the form of a scrofulous sore on the wrist until about five years ago From a few spots which appeared at that time it gradually spread so as to cover his entire body I assure you he was terribly afflicted and an object of pity when he began using your medicine Now there are few men of his age who enjoy as good health as he has I could easily name fifty persons who would testify to the facts in his case

Yours truly, W M. PHILLIPS."

FROM THE FATHER: "It is both a pleasure and a duty for me to state to you the benefit I have derived from the use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Six months ago I was completely covered with a terrible humor and scrofulous sores The humor caused an incessant and intolerable itching and the skin cracked so as to cause the blood to flow in many places whenever I moved My sufferings were great and my life a burden I commenced the use of the SARSAPARILLA in April last and have used it regularly since that time My condition began to improve at once The sores have all healed and I feel perfectly well in every respect—being now able to do a good day's work although 73 years of age Many inquire what has wrought such a cure in my case and I tell them as I have here tried to tell you AYER'S SARSAPARILLA Glover Vt Oct 21 188[illegible]

Yours gratefully

HIRAM PHILLIPS "

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints Erysipelas Eczema, Ringworm, Blotches, Sores Boils, Tumors and Eruptions of the Skin It clears the blood of all impurities aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system

ADVERTISING CHEATS!!!

It has become so common [illegible] beginning of an article [illegible] in an elegant interesting manner [illegible]

Then run it into some advertisement [illegible] and [illegible]

Simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain honest terms as possible

To induce people

To give them one trial which so proves their value that they will never use anything else

The Remedy so favorably noticed in all the papers

Religious and secular is

Having a large sale and is supplanting all other medicines

There is no denying the virtues of the Hop plant and the proprietors of Hop Bitters have shown great shrewdness [illegible]

[illegible] ability

In compounding a medicine whose virtues are so palpable to every one's observation

DID SHE DIE?

"No!

She lingered and suffered along pining away all the time for years"

"The doctors doing her no good;"

"And at last was cured by this Hop Bitters the papers say so much about"

"Indeed! Indeed!"

"How thankful we should be for that medicine"

A DAUGHTER'S MISERY

Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery

From a complication of kidney liver rheumatic trouble and Nervous debility

Under the care of the best physicians

Who gave her disease various names

But no relief

And now she is restored to us in good health by as simple a remedy as Hop Bitters that we had shunned for years before using it The PARENTS.

FATHER IS GETTING WELL.

My daughters say

How much better father is since he used Hop Bitters

He is getting well after his long suffering from a disease declared incurable

And we are so glad that he used your Bitters —A Lady of [illegible] N Y

WOLFE'S

Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps.

As a general beverage and necessary corrective of water rendered impure by vegetable decomposition or other causes, as limestone, sulphate of copper, etc. the AROMATIC SCHNAPPS is superior to every other alcoholic preparation. A public trial of over thirty years duration in every section of our country of UDOLPHO WOLFE'S SCHNAPPS, its unsolicited endorsement by the medical faculty and a sale unequalled by any other alcoholic distillation have insured for it the reputation of salubrity claimed for it. For sale by all druggists and grocers.
